..one single thing on her tenth anniversary, what would it be?

For me, it would be a simple but deep thank you - for the music and for the friends..

How her music has made my life better. I've had, and continue, to have struggles but as long as Dusty's music is around I think I'll be able to battle through ok.

How her sweet, loveable and goofy personality and tremendous talent have kept me going through so much. (Once I kick the bucket myself, I'm so proposing to her as well. Yep, I'm stone in love a dead lady.) Mind you with this crowd, I'll probably have to take a number! :-P

Nice to see you, Brooke. While you are waiting in line to take a number, why don't you go into your profile and pick an avatar?

Sit down, have a cup of tea and tell her how great her music is, how it never loses its relevance and what it has meant to me.

Thanks, Kathy, I will. I've actually been a member for a while now but I'm shy and almost never post! *blushes* Had an avatar too but it seems to have gone the way of the dodo...

Hey that was me (Nancy) talking to ya, not Kathy. All the avatars were redone, so ya gotta go pick another one in profiles. If you don't see anything you like, send Will the pic you want! Remember what Dusty says, don't be shy, you've been here before. ;-)

She hears us all, I know...I've had answers too of course (meaning Dusty Moments)

Dusty = winner and still Miss Valentine!

Id really like to be able to tell her how much she saved me when my grandpa died just over a year ago, the bottom fell out of my world like I'd never experienced and I was in so much pain, I hit rock bottom emotionally and mentally, place I hope I never find again. Because of Dusty I've finally found that place of peace a year and 2 months on. It's silly but last yr at my old job I used to drive past this company and outside would be the most gorgeous fluffy cat just sitting and watching traffic go by, and on my worst days, I'd drive past this cat, and it made me feel better. Kind of used it as a sign Dusty was sort of there. Just like now, everytime I see a lone magpie near me I am comforted because to me it's a sign my Grandpa is around (there's a story behind that...but I am babbling too much!)

🤔 I would of like to thank her for all the songs and videos she has left us. Reminds me of my mom who passed away 2004 at 91. I would play DUSTYS songs and videos and my mom would say you know who that is "its DUSTY" thats when my mom was getting worst on her alzheimers,So I would like to thank her. Oh yes and I'm still kicking myself for not going with Mary to Hollywood because I had to work, what was I thinking ?? Maybe if I would of gone we would'nt have seen her, you never know....

I would thank her for all her wonderful music and tell her there is no talent that even comes close to hers, how much I miss her, how much she has meant to me the last 45 years, and how she has helped me get through some difficult times. Like Hedydust, my mother died a little over a year ago from Dementia, a form of Alzheimers, it's an awful illness and I was my mother's sole caretaker. Dusty's music was there for me during the moments when I felt I just could not take anymore.

I would tell her how much I loved her - her music, her sense of humor, her look. She made me listen to music not just hear it. And I would thank her for introducing me to her wonderful fans thru this site.

I would tell her what I wrote on her card..."There's a part of you that's a part of me and no matter where I go, it comes along". Because that's how it is, she's part of me.

I'd want to tell her something about how much she's loved and how much her music is respected.

My first instinct would always be to give her a huge hug and a kiss on the cheek. 😊

It's that time of night. I had blocked things out. But over today I have realised yet again the greatness of the woman we lost too soon. I would like to dedicate this 'Swing Out Sister' track to Dusty. It means a lot to me. I listened to it a lot in 2007. It's called 'We'll Find A Place'.

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=\_zkC0jgcwJ8

The tune starts out sad but then it picks up with a lot of hope and joy and then it leaves us wondering...

I hope Dusty has found her place now and she's happy and free and having lots of fun singing away with her favourite artists and having a laugh with her friends who one by one are joining her.

When my time is up I hope I get a star close to the people I've truly loved and lost. And I hope Dusty will be just down the Star Road and I hope she'll come to tea at least once. I guess she'll be busy because she is so loved by so many people. Hats off to you, beautiful Dusty and thank you so very, very much.

Thank you for that Memphis, my friend.

This is where that took me, so I'd like to dedicate this to Dusty too. I haven't listened to it since I heard it at the funeral of a friend who died from AIDS, not so long after Barbra's Broadway LP was released.

Nancy, that song makes me cry every time. Even the Pet Shop Boys version makes me well up.

A lovely and fitting choice.

Carole G--teared up a bit when I read what you would say because that is about as basic as it can get. And it is true for all of us on these groups. Dusty really has become part of us.

This was the first topic I responded to when I joined. There's really something else I would tell Dusty if I could - I'm sorry! I'm sorry I didn't continue to follow your life, career and music, after you were a part of my childhood as a kid in the sixties. I'm sorry that, when I learned of your passing, I didn't even now that you had been ill. I can't do anything about that now, and Thomas Wolfe was right when he said, "You Can't Go Home Again". But maybe by reconnecting as I have, and celebrating you with my friends here, I'll try my best to come as close as possible.
