

Let's Talk Dusty!

The Ultimate Forum for Dusty Springfield Fans
<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/>

White Heat cover question

<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewtopic.php?f=8&t=7725>

White Heat cover question

by Duster

Page 1 of 1

Posted: Mon Jan 09, 2017 4:14 am

It looks like the cover for White Heat was adapted from a photograph. If so, has the untouched original ever been published?

Re: White Heat cover question

by daydreamer

Posted: Wed Mar 08, 2017 11:47 pm

That's an interesting question and I don't think I've ever come across the original, presuming there was one. I do wonder if it was the same shoot as the well known one that graced Sometimes Like Butterflies amongst other things though.

white-heat.jpg (37.32 KiB) Viewed 2660 times

Butterflies.jpeg (14.08 KiB) Viewed 2660 times

Re: White Heat cover question

by Corinna

Posted: Thu Mar 09, 2017 9:22 am

Ah! The cover is just from a little different angle. But it does look like it could be from the same session. Thanks for bringing this up!

Re: White Heat cover question

by Duster

Posted: Sun Mar 12, 2017 3:54 am

Thanks Carole! That's a very sharp observation; the makeup and hair do look quite similar. Just as an aside, the other day I checked my copy of White Heat, and a "Mac James" is credited on the back with painting. I tried submitting a message via his website but had no success.

Re: White Heat cover question

by JMFabianoRPL

Posted: Tue Feb 26, 2019 5:21 am

The drawing's hair looks straighter and the eyeliner is more angled, but yeah. Though WH came years before the Hippodrome debacle/recordings.

There is an actual photo on the back of the album, wonder if the photographer of that was named? (I have been long parted from my vinyl version...)

Re: White Heat cover question

by Clive

Posted: Tue Feb 26, 2019 7:30 am

JMFabianoRPL wrote:

There is an actual photo on the back of the album, wonder if the photographer of that was named? (I have been long parted from my vinyl version...)

Bret Lopez is credited as photographer James

Re: White Heat cover question

by edjames

Posted: Tue Feb 26, 2019 6:09 pm

White Heat was released in December of 1982.

The second photo was used for the promotion of the single Sometimes Like Butterflies in August, 1985.

A 3 year gap but still possible that the photo influenced the cover.

Re: White Heat cover question

by JMFabianoRPL

Posted: Tue Feb 26, 2019 8:38 pm

Clive wrote:

JMFabianoRPL wrote:

There is an actual photo on the back of the album, wonder if the photographer of that was named? (I have been long parted from my vinyl version...)

Bret Lopez is credited as photographer James

Interesting. Maybe a joint search with his and Dusty's names could turn up some good stuff..