I don't know if this has ever been on the site before as I haven't been here long (apologies if it has!) but I thought I'd post a link to it anyway!

I think I have that, among other things, on the website. A bit of a controversial figure, Miss P is.

Now don't mix up Miss P with Miss P, who's an incredibly tasteful (not tasty!) and well-travelled womanpig!

Yes and where is Ms P BTW? - missing in action again!

CP - raises privacy issues but interesting nonetheless - well IMO.

Dusty would never approve what Pope says..She like to keep everything private. She never sang to anyone. The Lucy book is honest, and what Dusty said was her words. Lucy beefed it up a little. But thats writers. Teda

Several years ago Carole Pope put one of her personal Dusty items up for auction on eBay. It was about a year or two after Dusty died. I think it was a poster of Dusty that she signed to Carole, 'you leather clad loon,' and Carole for whatever reason had to sell it.

It was going for a thousand. I put in a bid but was outbid and didn't make it. Dammit. I wonder who has it now?

Perhaps people may not know that a loon is a bird, kind of like a duck. It makes a haunting sound across the lakes of Canada (of which there are thousands) often at night and can be heard great distances on still nights. The Canadian dollar coin is called a Loony because it carries a picture of a loon on it. This extract has been brought to you from Kathy's Useless Facts!

I saw the same item on eBay...maybe even saved a pic of it...I think it was a program from the Grand Finale.

No comment about loons except they always remind me of On Golden Pond!

That's a great dedication! Even Pope admits she was arrogant at the time. The "chemistry" of their first meeting is legendary. Where did you find this Cor?

She got it from me, I think, and I copied it off eBay.

I wanted if the 'Hooray for Vicki' was because Vicki was the impetus for them meeting or some other inside allusion.

That's correct, Bosseh!

And yep, 't was Vicki Wickham who suggested they'd meet.

Mads, I have a copy of it from the earbook that comes with Simply Dusty (4 CD set) (without dedication of course) but it is on an angle in the book and as a result some corners are missing. If you want a copy let me know.

And don't forget the greeting card that was fairly suggestive, tho fun, that Carole Pope sold on EBay. I won that bid and have the card.

Unlike the greedy and crass antics of Ms. Pope, we never see anything from the other women in Dusty's love life for sale on eBay ... well, except for my current auctioning off of Teda! 🤔👀

Love,
Ro 😊

Not sure anyone could afford that, Ro. 😊

Still, it's probably better to let people (e.g. CP) speak for themselves, than for others of us to characterize their behavior and motives.

I sometimes think people really need the money. I am less critical of this auctioning off thing than I use to be. Only a dope would sit on something valuable and have the lights turned off. Ha.

Hi, Linda

I think all of us at one time or another have come upon hard times - financially speaking; but, would you sell something so personal that someone who once loved you gave to you?

Aunt Tillie's old Hummel figures would go waaaaaay before I'd sell anything that personal - hell, I'd never betray any of my ex's by exposing their tender feelings to the world - eBay or otherwise.

It just makes me very angry that all these people who professed to have loved Dusty have betrayed her in this way. She didn't write these very personal notes for the world to see.

I have a couple of Dusty things she left behind - you won't see them on eBay; but, you can see one at Sophie's home.

Oh, I'm just rambling again - however, this kinda stuff makes me crazy - it just reeks of betrayal and vulturesque behaviour.

Now, I shall fold up my soapbox and move on.

Good running into you again, Linda

Love,
Ro
