On behalf of me but hopefully all of us (I) may I respectfully ask you, Duggie whether you are intending to bring out the story of your time spent with Dusty during the Sixties period?

A view from an old and trusted friend/fellow musician would be so much appreciated...

I, too, would love to hear your story of your time with Dusty, Duggie. It would indeed be fabulous.

And if you should decide to share something of your story here as an 'appetizer', you can be sure of an attentive, initiated, and most grateful audience!

Yes, Duggie, even if it were an interview or long article rather than a full-length book, fans would love to hear from you!

Hi All

Yes I do want to put it out there probably a lot later rather than sooner.
I really have very good reasons why which at this time I will not give. I have put down some things which are to be in a book and I hope comes out soon.

control.
As time passes I think of more thing that I can say, so when thing don't seem so personal and sensitive I may well feel that it's time and nobody will get hurt or offended.
I have not done much about those movies but did find some pictures of Dusty.
As I live in the mountains just East of Melbourne it is a fire prone area so I have been very busy clearing as much undergrowth as I can as the fire season approaches. My brother-in-law lost his home in the fires in February so I will try and save mine. I hope to sort through the movies asap.

It all sounds wonderful Duggie, and I hope all this comes together for you soon.
Good luck in protecting your home from the fires, how awful to lose a home that way.

Thanks for reply Duggie, good title. Can understand how difficult things might be to some extent.people do get hurt, but any idea what year ? or is this totally up to the publishers. So sorry to hear about your brothers loss of his home. Hope all your hard work clearing the undergrowth pays off , must be devastating.

Thanks for the reply Duggie.

I know that we all await the publication with eager anticipation.

Keep safe from those fires.

Thanks for the information, Duggie. I think we'll just have to wait then.

I'm sorry to hear about your brother's house. Good wishes for your area to make it through the bushfire season without damage.

Hi Duggie,

It's great to hear that your memoirs of Dusty will be out there sometime in the future. Very tantalizing to hear about your movies and photos!

This would be great Duggie. May I also add to other requests about 8mm film, you have mentioned previously that you have somewhere a video of Dusty performing her Shirley Temple routine. That would be great to have on DVD.
