She looks and sounds utterly magnificent here and this real class in action.

I'm glad I watched this stunning performance from Dusty, but today, it makes me feel kinda sad and a little teary and I wish she was still here with us..

We'll never stop loving you either, Dusty xxx

Dusty will always be with us wherever we are in the world. Her music has made certain of that. So let's try not to be sad as I'm sure that Dusty would hate that. Let's rejoice & give thanks on his her birthday. Can you imagine if she had never been born - unthinkable eh!

Wonderful, Dusty sings divinely. And while I was at the location, I had to have a look at I Don't Want To Go On Without you--I get lost in the close ups every time. 😊 Love Dusty's timing in this song--so glad it survived the BBC's tendency to throw out magical performances. 😊

The photo in my Birthdays wishes comes from this recording.

Its a lovely song and shows Dusty singing live and looking great.

Its this magic that shows what we fans have treasured all these years.

One of my favourites, I have many I know, but there's something magical about this performance, it's as if the stars are aligned and everything falls into place. I had this on reel to reel in the 60's when we only got to watch the show the once and were just left with a memory and a tape. Then all these years to later to have it to watch whenever I want is just wonderful.

So true. I lit candles in a cathedral for Dusty today, and left a message for her to be remembered in prayer.

Well done, Nancy. 😊

Of course I agree with everyone. This song is so wonderful by Dusty. I mean really, if there is a perfect performance this is it and then you play the next marvellous track and then the next and realise again how great Dusty was and is. It's a wonder the audience ever let Dusty leave that BBC stage. More! Brava!
