Maybe ask Paul Howes if you draw a blank on here, Nanceh?

Very curious! I'm trying to think if it could be an abbreviation of another title, but nothing springs to mind.

Looks to me as though it might have been added after as there is no uniformity to the lettering.

Ummmmm! I can't say I remember 'Boy'. Dene enhanced it and it didn't look as if it had been added tho' the lettering is totally different like you say Kathy. I'd be interested in finding out.

Couldn't be the record label that's called BOY? Just an idea...

It's been suggested to me that this could be a Taiwan issue. It seems that often, records that emerged from that country would have bad photocopied covers, the titles would be messed about with and even songs by different artists would be added. The 'Boy' is possibly Lulu's song and the title on the cover, being so at odds with YDHTSYLM, could be printed over Every Ounce of Strength. I believe the logo on the left of the sleeve is often on Taiwan releases as well.

Interesting Carole That would make sense. Sure we would have heard of 'Boy' had Dusty recorded such a track!
- BTW nothing came up on Google.

I found the link...and it's Malaysian not Belgian as I wrote....

The auction description says:
DUSTY SPRINGFIELD 'You don't have to say you love me / Every ounce of strength / Boy / Sad memories' rare MALAYSIAN EP on the Hi FI label
Is Sad Memories another Lulu song?

I'm not too good at geography but maybe Malaysia had the same practices as Taiwan? I wonder did Dusty get any royalties on these releases?

Malaysia had a nasty habit of putting two artists on one EP. So it might be a joint EP of Dusty and Lulu. They also did EP's with four different artists.

One for the extreme completist !!

They could have nicked the cover from Taiwan as Carole says, I've a Taiwan LP 'Greatest Hits' with that photo, but Dusty's eyes have been doctored to make her look more 'eastern'

Good grief Tom, what a cheek! Sad Memories was the B side of Lulu's Boy Nancy.

Hi Tim

Will copy the cover and send it to the Boy Wonder when I get back from holiday the week after nwxr.

OK
