I was having a browse through some of the archives, and was really taken by the poster on this thread:

http://www.dustyspringfield.info/forum/topic.asp?ARCHIVE=true&TOPIC_ID=661

It made me wonder- does anybody happen to know what Dusty was like with computers and/or technology in general? I wonder if she made this poster or had somebody else make it...

I'm so curious!

I think Simon Bell would have made that for Dusty.

Hadn't seen that thread before. Thanks. I'm glad Nicholas got home safely.

Well..not that DVD is the most accurate source for anything, but it did mention that once she learned how to use a fax machine, she was quite taken with it and used it all the time to fax her manager about cat food, and dresses, and different career related things.
