Yes, Clare, but you have to pay a few cents to join at the level to be able to post. Go for it, and tell them Dusty's fave perfume too.

Chanel No.....9?

Ooh I am IN LOVE with Princess by Vera Wang at the moment! 😊

LOVE MADS.

OoO i love the Kylie one. But at the moment i vary between the Body Shop Vanilla Perfume Oil (cos i love how strong it is and how long it stays on for) and 5th Avenue. Hehe.

Actually No. 19 is made from green and white flowers which gives it its distinctive green colour (and expensive price!). I guess this gives it a slightly woody fragrance. It is a lovely fragrance which I often wear. It was developed in 1970 by Chanel as a "lighter" perfume which is supposed to be perfect for office wear! Perfumes have "top notes" (when the perfume is only freshly on) and "bottom notes" (when the perfume has been on for hours). I am not that keen on the top notes (luckily these soon fade) but adore the bottom notes of Chanel No. 19. These bottom notes in a good perfume (such as No. 19) can be released many hours after application and are often released when the body is heated such as hot flushes, dancing and other evening activities in which one may indulge. 😊 OoO it was the right one that. I wasn't to keen on it when i first sprayed it on, but after a while when it subtle- down (yeah I make sense lol) I liked it a bit more.

Yeah, it makes good sense never to buy a perfume by spraying it on and then making a decision. Leave it on for the evening and make your decision then, the difference is often quite significant. 😊

Oooh 19 ! Yep I remember now 😊

Gucci Rush 2 has the nicest top notes (impulse buy!!!) and about an hour later you REEK. Re-apply 😊

LOVE MADS.
