Didn't she like "all day breakfasts" according to VW, and chocolate cake, no wonder she had a weight problem but she did very well to keep relatively slim. .Dusty did put weight on in the latter years but nothing like some of her peers, I appreciate that some of her treatment lead to weight gain but overall she did well.

I seem to recall her eating a number of Mars Bars before a show in the 80's for energy. 😊 I don't really think she had a weight problem though, she was never noticeably overweight. Mind you, she did wear baggier clothes in her latter years, but she looked lovely nevertheless. 😊

That's funny you should put this question on Brian because I was thinking about it one day last week while cooking dinner. I figured it was a subject covered in the past so I didn't bring it up. I'm glad you did now so those that know can let us know 🍕🍷

I think she liked lamb chops because I remember she turned up for dinner at a friends In Amsterdam with her own chops!

Also melon , doughnuts, pizza from Sat night at The Mill.....well the cats liked it so Guess she did too!

and fish and chips from her local !!.....but no vinegar as she could not stand the smell

Simon verifies that she loved her fish and chips :) Also roast potatoes with rosemary and garlic and chicken curries. And Mexican, especially refrained beans. She liked her Sunday dinners at Pat's too and would ring and ask for Yorkshire puddings. I also remember Pat once saying that she and Dusty would shop in Waitrose in Henley and Dusty would buy a box of doughnuts on the way in and finish them before check out!

She must have liked Ice Cream. 😊 Also on the Stay Awhile/I Only Want To Be With You back cover Dusty says "I Love Steak" 🍔 She probably didn't like bread rolls either. 😊

An interview with Peppi said if she was having you over & cooking, it was inevitably eggs and she'd use half a pound of butter. And that she'd call him up in the middle of the night and say "Pep, I'm hungry. If I come over will you fix me something to eat?" Apparently she wasn't much of a cook which is probably why she had parties catered by Fortnum & Mason. (I can relate & always blame it on my Irish mother). Someone else said she liked diners & ordered "6-egg omelettes". The "What Makes Dusty Tick?" clipping also mentions Coca-cola (later with vodka 😊) & chocolate cake, of course. 🍷

According to Lorna Hancock in 'A Girl Called Dusty' she loved Kentucky Fried Chicken too 🍗
Oh, and didn't I read somewhere else that she liked Corned Beef Hash??

Well pretty much everything then except celery. And I rather tend to think that was just a joke perpetuated by CP.

It appears Dusty liked a lot of sweet things like choccy cake, doughnuts etc. How did she have such beautiful teeth throughout her life, I'm aware of some assistance in the '80s but that aside she had lovely teeth to go with her smile.

Whilst in America, also tacos from Taco Bell, reportedly.

@Evelyn--it's okay to bring up something that may have been discussed before. For one thing, some of us can't remember what was said, and secondly, we have new members who may have more info to add. Thirdly, remember what Cas said and don't hold back. 🙄🙄

So right Neil. I seem to remember she took raw cauli and something else to a party when she was in Holland. Mind you cauli cheese cooked is a bit more fattening, and at the time I think she was dieting. Bless!

I will do that Nancy, thanks. I have been guilty of holding back sometimes because I was afraid some would get tired of the same old stuff but I guess I was wrong 🙄

I have read that Dusty loved Taco Bell too and I think probably most fast food 🙄

It's unavoidable. I expect everything I've posted has been spoken about before. 🙄 Also, I don't know half as much as all of you guys! I am your faithful pupil. 🙄🙄🙄

Totally agree. I've definitely posted stuff on here that's already been discussed at some point. That's all part of the fun though 🙄 Apologies in advance 🙄

She apparently loved corned beef hash which she ordered at IHOP in the States, and got hooked on diner foods there, which are traditionally not all that healthy. But she was travelling on the road and had to stop off somewhere to eat.

I don't know if it's exactly the same thing but chocolate pie with whipped cream (real...not out of a can or a tub!) on top is a holiday staple in my family 🍷 If I didn't make it everyone would be mad at me 😊

I vaguely remember someone saying Dusty liked Thai, or if not Thai, oriental restaurants too.

Dotty and Pattigee---we went to IHOP the night we got carjacked JUST so she could have her corned beef hash! And she did like Thai---we were headed for a nice Thai dinner on our first date when she heard a sound near the door of the restaurant, and we spent te next two hours coaxing that cat out of the underbrush! I have to think that was the most memorable first date! Never did get Thai that night! T3

Nice to know all these little tidbits about Dusty. Was at a Christmas party yesterday and when I saw the chocolate cake, thought about Dust throwing the choc cake out the closed window. You can just see the cake and icing sliding down the glass and then eventually down the wall onto the floor.....
