

Let's Talk Dusty!

The Ultimate Forum for Dusty Springfield Fans
<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/>

THE FREE LIBRARY

<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewtopic.php?f=8&t=2673>

THE FREE LIBRARY

by IWannaBeABluesSinger

Page 1 of 1

Posted: Thu Jun 23, 2011 3:59 am

I don't know if anyone else has seen this resource. They have reprints of articles about every subject. Here's the link to Dusty's search page:

http://www.thefreelibrary.com/_/search/Search.aspx?SearchBy=0&Word=Dusty+Springfield&Search=Search&By=0

Also The British Music Experience, a museum in London, has a display of some of Dusty's dresses as you can see on this page:

<http://www.britishmusicexperience.com/index.cfm?PageID=116>

Maggie

Re: THE FREE LIBRARY

by daydreamer

Posted: Thu Jun 23, 2011 7:13 am

Thanks for the link Maggie, I'll scour through those little by little to see if there is anything that's new to me. As for the BME, when they first opened their doors they had a Day for Dusty which quite a few of us managed to get to. You can read about it here.. http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/ltd_ ... he_BME.pdf

Sorry that some of my photo's are missing, I probably moved them around in my own files and that deleted them. As you weren't meant to take photo's in the main exhibition, the two dresses on show there, aren't included in these photo's as far as I can see. That said, I'm sure that somewhere there is a sneaky photo or two

Re: THE FREE LIBRARY

by allherfaces

Posted: Thu Jun 23, 2011 3:38 pm

Thanks, Maggie. I too will have a look to see if there's anything I've missed. I have performed a lot of 'Dusty' searches in college and university library databases and found some interesting things.

I liked the opening lines of "the Secret Life" about Dusty liking maps and atlases as I won her Civil War atlases/reference books at auction on Dusty Day. Let's hope Neil doesn't steal them from me. 😊 I actually have a fantasy of some day when retired or on vacation, using the atlases to tour some of the battlegrounds.

Re: THE FREE LIBRARY

by IWannaBeABluesSinger

Posted: Sat Jun 25, 2011 2:34 am

I liked the opening lines of "the Secret Life" about Dusty liking maps and atlases as I won her Civil War atlases/reference books at auction on Dusty Day.

Would you put up a list of the books and authors - it would be nice to see if any of them are still available and to read what she read? Thanks.

Maggie

Re: THE FREE LIBRARY

by IWannaBeABluesSinger

Posted: Sat Jun 25, 2011 3:44 am

daydreamer wrote:

As for the BME, when they first opened their doors they had a Day for Dusty which quite a few of us managed to get to. You can read about it here.. http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/ltd_ ...he_BME.pdf]

Does the BME have a permanent Dusty exhibit or was this a one off? Her two dresses seem to still be there but is that it?

Maggie

Re: THE FREE LIBRARY

by allherfaces

Posted: Sat Jun 25, 2011 5:02 pm

IWannaBeABluesSinger wrote:

I liked the opening lines of "the Secret Life" about Dusty liking maps and atlases as I won her Civil War atlases/reference books at auction on Dusty Day.

Would you put up a list of the books and authors - it would be nice to see if any of them are still available and to read what she read? Thanks.

Maggie

These are articles that are about Dusty or mention Dusty. You can find the details by following the link.

My understanding is that there are a couple of gowns in the permanent BME exhibit. There was a one-off special Dusty exhibit a couple of years back that some of us were able to attend.