Did you see this clip?

With 1'53 it's longer than the snippet shown in Full Circle, but still not great quality. Can't believe the BBC threw this historic material away!

Got that right Cor!!

I love this. How awesome is Jimi playing!

Wouldn't it have been great if they had kept this, and it was of clear quality? Luckily we have this though

Yes this is great - I kind of like the grabbed quality, but obviously it would have been great to see a clearer image. Shame Dusty didn't rock out more - guess her delicate pipes put a stop to her doing too much of this kind of thing.

Are there any memories of this you can share, Cas, seeing as how you got to watch it as it was happening?

I remember it well only when I see the clips and then I'm transported back to my Mams house and we were in the living room with the tape recorder set as it always was for Dusty's shows and I remember being over whelmed that she was actually singing a duet with the great Jimmy Hendrix and one of my very favourites too. I can't remember much more sorry.

Well awesone Divine.

Here he is in Stockholm playing Voodoo Chile. I bought it as single when it was released. Jimi and his guitar seem to be one 🍀

Is Mam your mother or grandmother? And what kind of tape recorder? How did you set it up?

So, you remembered Dusty singing the duet on her album, and then had the surprise of seeing her sing it with Jimi?

It's cool how these clips transport you back to the moment! If I'm asking too many questions, let me know.

'Axis: Bold As Love' is one of my favorite albums of all time... Jimi was beyond incredible. To think that he and Dusty played together, and it was filmed, then the footage was destroyed is unbelievable.

Speaking of unbelievable, did you know Jimi once played in Ilkley?

Nancy my Mam is...was ...my Mother its what I called her , a lot of people call their mums mam up North.

The Show was on TV and I saw all her shows that were televised in the 60's.

My brother was working in Germany as a butcher and when he came home eventually to stay he brought a reel to reel tape recorder which I used. I would set up the mike close to the tv and just record. It worked out pretty well except on some of the recordings you got a buzzing noise. I wrote down all the dates and Shows on the backs of the boxes the reels came in. A few years ago I sent all my tapes to Paul Howes and he managed to transfer them to tape Cassettes etc. Fraser also borrowed these and hence you could down load them. A bit of the buzzing was removed and so the sound quality improved. Some of my recording were used on the 'Good Times' cd. Will that do for now 🤔 😊 🙏

You know Cas, I used to do the exact same thing with a music show that was on TV in the 70s. I used to sit in front of the TV and record, and hushed everyone who dared to breathe incorrectly. LOL. Though these tapes are long gone now. I'm glad you saved yours and they were of such good use and pleasure for all fans!
