It is an excellent version, thanks for posting it Samuel. It's from Grand Gala du Disque and she also sang Come Back to Me and SOAPM. I have them on a CD that was made up for me, along with all the songs from Dit is Dusty but I'm sure lots of people here have never heard this version before.

Yes it is a good version, and I have heard it before, but not for a while. Thank you Samuel.

I've never heard this version, thanks for finding it, Samuel! 🍋

Carole - are you sure about Grand Gala du Disque? The information on YouTube says it's from Berlin, Gala-Abend der Schallplatte?

Wow....that is one fantastic version of the song....the backing music sounds more dramatic than the recorded version, and there's a greater sense of drama to it, in my eyes.

Thank you very much for that find, Samuel!

Cool! Thanks very much, Samuel. I haven't heard this before just now. I love that 'Baby, Baby, Baby' at the end.

Now where's Dusty's best live performances on a perfectly re-mastered commercial CD? We'll get it (or a box-set) one day, I'm sure.

Just checked the Complete in case I was making things up and it say's "Dusty is in Germany for Grand Gala du Disque in Berlin" between the dates 10-15 March '69. The show was broadcast on the 14th.

It sounds so fresh - the vocals are so stripped bare and then so powerful with that thundering back-up.What a terrific discovery.Really fantastic to hear.These little moments are bliss.

You're right Frans it was. I got this from Paul... The performance is from 'Gala-Abend...' and not 'Grand Gala du Disque'. When I first compiled the book I took information from a news cutting which I have to admit seemed strange at the time as I believed 'Grand Gala' to be a Dutch show. However it's correctly given in the German discography as 'Gala-Abend' (an edited version of the live performance was included on a German album) but the inconsistency was one of those things that I never picked up on.

Aw, Joan Hickson. The BEST Miss Marple of all. Even better than Margaret Rutherford in my opinion.
