Does anyone know where I can find the quote where Dusty said "If You Go Away" was her favorite song, or one of her favorites?

Thanks,

Doesn't quite fit your bill. This comes from Sharon Davis's book.

'They can't all be a cry from the heart...But there's one song I can always perform with emotion and that's 'If You Go Away'. It's about fear of rejection and abandonment,(and) that's what happened to me.'

Yes, I read that exact sentence earlier. Dusty talked about the song during a radio interview once where people rang in and asked her questions. One person asked about that song and what it meant to her and I seem to remember her saying how she had been left and so could relate to it.

I believe I recently read that in a certain other (ahem) book, too.. I actually thought it was perhaps the most revealing thing I have ever heard Dusty say about herself and in many ways, it crystallised and explained so many things about her. I was deeply touched by it.

Carole/Memphis, are you saying that the mention in Sharon's book comes from Dusty on a radio show?

What is the page number of the quotation, please?

(I don't ask for much....😞)

Do you have Edward Leeson's book Nancy? It's absolutely full of quotes and a comprehensive list of Notes at the back with full details of where he got all his information from. On If You Go Away.....

"You know, bringing out the emotion in a song is hard for me. They can't all be a cry from the heart.....But there is one song I can always perform with emotion and that's If You Go Away. It's about fear of rejection and abandonment and that's something a lot of people can identify with - especially me".

Similar to the quote in Sharon's book. Edward Leeson says it is from Woman magazine 22nd July 1978
