We know that's the song that Katy will be singing this week as Dusty on The One and Only but do we need George W's help by jumping on the bandwagon? What's that all about then?

George W. Bush...
Working It Hard
For America's Energy Needs

Wishin' and hopin' and thinkin' and prayin'
Plannin' and dreaming each night of his charms

Show him that you care just for him
And do the things he likes to do

Hold him and kiss him
and squeeze him and love him
Yeah, just do it and after you do, you will be his

Just wishin' and hopin' and thinkin' and prayin'
Plannin' and dreamin' his kiss is the start

No, and the world will manage fine without him too.

Tongue in cheek of course....

Little did we know that the meaning of "jawboning" would ultimately culminate in George Bush kissing up to the Saudi's in hopes they would increase oil production. Yes, it sure looks like the President had an effective plan in place. After all, look at the results...record oil prices! Oh, and don't forget all the oil we're getting from Iraq...you know...the oil that was going to pay for the war effort.

OK, with that said, I decided to offer my own "pulled from thin air" version of the President's comprehensive energy policy. I suspect it has as much potential to succeed as the one being followed by George Bush. So here it is...

The President will soon unveil a new strategy...one that is sure to touch a soft spot with the Saudi's and OPEC. After much consideration, he has decided to reach back into the annals of musical history (think Dusty Springfield) to create his "Wishin' & Hopin'" tour. Say what you will about the President's intellect, but his plan to use his charms to woo OPEC into handing over more oil is sheer genius.

Hence, the following graphic shall serve to launch the President's "Wishin' & Hopin'" strategic energy policy. Let the oil flow!

And apart from the RAH, the only two Dusty versions of Wishin' and Hopin' I can think of on video, put together here.

Ahem everyone (and George Bush!) This thread name is already taken. It was democratically chosen (unlike George Bush) by LTD members to represent the ongoing Raffle Thread--so cease and desist immediately!

Theres a rather nice but short version on the dvd I bought this week Carole, where shes wearing a long pink gown, and sporting long hair. Thank you for the link, I enjoyed the two versions entwined together.

You're quite right Cas about the DVD and that has already been pointed out to me! Oh, to be perfect. It's from They Sold A Million. I think there is also another clip, which I've only ever seen in bad quality from an American TV show called Where The Action Is. It's the one where she's standing on a racetrack.
