I have just been looking back at a scrap book I had in my (much) younger days - devoted to Motown and it's artists. One of the reports pasted into the book by Bob Dawbarn revues the programme and then goes on to say: - 'At the end of a long, long day everyone went off to a party hosted by Dusty where Anglo-American friendship was cemented with Eric Burden, Hilton Valentine and Alan Price of The Animals: Goldie and The Gingerbreads:the Ivy League: The Rolling Stones: Andrew Oldham: The Three Bells (?), Rediffusions light entertainment boss Elkan Allan, Sandie Shaw, Madeline Bell, Kiki Dee, dancer Peppi and many more. By all accounts it was 'a party to end all parties'!!...however by noon the next day everyone was back on-stage at EMI for the launch of the Tamla-Motown label, and a preview of the stage show. But there was more to come - somebody started singing 'Amen', and within seconds the artists were all singing - lead by Dusty. It was like being at a revival meeting!...but with more class and soul.

oh how I wish I was there. Do you think the 'Three Bells' = the Blue Belles?
