Angel of the Morning (#p135795)

by donellac » Mon Oct 14, 2013 12:18 pm

I have just heard Dusty's version of Angel of the Morning. 🌹🌹

It has just grabbed me by the entrails and thrills me every time I hear it 😱😱

Such a wonderful rendition of this song, filled by turns with pathos and longing, just wonderful

👏 I love it, love it. 🙌🙌🙌🙌

It really is gorgeous. Another missed opportunity at a time she was seeking her next hit single. The live recording on the Goin' Back boxed set sounds as though the playback speed was slowed down (it sounds a half-pitch lower than the Decidedly Dusty domestic audio recording previously circulated among fans). I live in hope that transmission copies of the series will someday surface and we can see the performance in its original form.

its a nice track to come across, 🤔
(this song was out when I was on night duty as a nurse and we adapted some of the words..
"just call me Angel of the morning, just brush my teeth before you leave me, nursey ") 🤔 apologies..

all those songs she did in live shows were so good at showing how versatile and talented she was.

don't know if anyone saw that they had uncovered in Russia 🤔 footage of nine episodes of Dr Who from the BBC .they have restored them and are releasing them ,so maybe we will yet get some of the Dusty shows? 😊

Dusty passed up many good chances to cover great songs with 'Angel Of The Morning' being one of them. She should have recorded a version when Merrilee Rush's version was hot in the US.

I thought the same thing when I heard about the recent Doctor Who recovery. There have GOT to be episodes of Dusty's missing BBC and ATV/ITV programmes out there somewhere, not to mention her appearances on the various other music variety programmes... there just HAS to be begs the universe

😊 A pristine copy of the classic silent film "Metropolis" was discovered in a museum vault in Brazil, and I wonder what other treasures it holds (BBC episodes ?). Maybe nothing, but it's a clue.

Perhaps somewhere in Brazil is another source. 😊

Was this a recent recovery?

Hello, does anyone know where I could get hold of Dusty's live recording of Angel of the Morning? Also looking to find The Olive Tree which used to be on YouTube but has been removed. Thanks.

Thank you so much - very grateful. Both are superb. I wish they would issue a 'Rare Live Dusty' album full of these BBC gems.

Sorry so late:

I had this all wrong. The copy of "Metropolis" was discovered At the Museo del Cine Buenos Aires, Argentina in 2008, and a partial in the National Film Archive of New Zealand. Let's hold out hope there's Dusty footage somewhere.

You may find many treasures in our A Song For You \(http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewforum.php?f=33\) section, where we sell rare live performances on CD and DVD, all for the benefit of our Dusty charities. 😊
