I saw Dusty in concert last night at Drury Lane.

Also saw her at the DSI Do at 'The Entertainer' Pub in North London (Balls Pond Road) and the other do where she sang with Simon Bell.

Was also in the audience of Terry Wogan TV Show when Dusty mimed 'Sometimes Like Butterflies' and had a chat with Terry. I got my ticket through DSI we were sked by Dusty to make as much noise as we could on her introduction, I am one of the many shouting for more before she had opened mouth! If you videod the TV Show you can hear us in full voice. Wogan commented 'There seem to be a lot of old men in the audience' to which Dusty replied 'I hope there are some young ones too'.

Well let me see.i have always looked in the entertainment part of the paper when Dusty was with us.When I saw that she was gona be here at the Century City plaza I had my mom buy us the tickets knowing she loved Dusty too , so she got dinner show tickets for the 3 of us.When we got there we were so happy to be able to see Dusty so close and yes she was very late but very worth it.With her long hair and white dress she looked so much llike an angel that she was.I don't remember what we had for dinner ,but we did have margaritta's.Her voice was like silk.At that time she only stood in one spot not llike RAH concert.I think without looking in Pauls book that it was 72.The people loved her.When she sang you could hear a pin drop.

I saw the dress rehearsal for Dusty's first appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show. Never saw her perform in person again until the Grand Finale gig - curiosity got the best of me and I lived a block away from that joint so I dropped by to catch up with some friends - stayed at the bar and ducked out early - but, that's a story for another day. 😊😊

Hi, Mary

What more can I say... hmmm. The Ed Sullivan deal was on my 18th birthday and my friends and I were hoping to see the Beatles or the Stones - hell, we would have settled for Freddie & The Dreamers or Herman's Hermits... we wanted the BOYS!!! Even, Gerry & The Pacemakers would have made us happy - but, some girl nobody ever heard of - well, we were not happy campers. But, when we saw Dusty and heard her sing, there was a few 'converts' in the group - you could tell them by the increased eyeliner they wore to school the next day.

As for the Grand Finale - got food poisoning there during a Morgana King show. I caught just about everybody who played there - freebies thanks to a friendly bartender. To be honest with you, Dusty didn't bring her A-Game that night. She sang well enough - a tad hoarse - but, I suppose Dusty not singing as well as she could is better than most singers' best. I had to leave early because my significant other of that era was a tad 'testy' about the whole deal... moral of that story - SHOULD HAVE STAYED WITH THE BOYS!!!

Love,
Ro

THANKS RO. WHAT A NICE STORY.BACK IN THE 60'S AND 70'S AND 80'S WE WERE ALWAYS LOOKING IN THE PAPERS TO SEE IF THE STONES WERE COMING TO LA FOR A CONCERT.BUT WE KNEW THEY WOULD ONLY DO CONCERTS EVERY 3 TO 4 YEARS.HAD TO MISS THIS YEAR DUE TO HEALTH BUT THATS OK I ENJOYED THEM SO MUCH IN THE PAST AND THEY ARE STILL GOING STRONG.WOW

I STILL REMEMBER SEEING DUSTY AND HEARING THAT GREAT VOICE.EVEN BETTER THEN THE CD'S.HEARING HER LIVE THAT WAS SOMETHING ELSE.SHE WAS SO CLEAR.I KNOW SHE IS SINGING TO MY MOM NOW.BLESS BOTH OF THEM.

1982 I saw Dusty at Gregg's Blue Dot. She sang a song I never heard before. She mined it. She wore a nice white dress, and looked so beautifull. Teda xx

I saw Dusty many times, RAH in 1964 with loads of male groups, she being the only girl. Prince of Wales Theatre later on that year, Talk of the Town twice, Finsbury Park Empire, Batley Variety Club (1973) which was fantastic...Magnificent Sanctuary Band, I am Woman etc., London Palladium, Drury lane...and a few times sat in the audience for TV shows. She was wonderful at The Talk of the Town, very sophisticated and charismatic.

Batley Varieties...dear me, I used to live in Batley, until I was old enough to learn how to catch a bus. ;) The Varieties shut down a long time back, as you probably know, but apparently there was talk of bringing it back recently.

I'd be very interested to know if anyone has any Dusty setlists from concerts they attended?

Yes I saw Dusty in concert too they included...

Nelson Imperial 1966

ABC Blackpool 1966

Odeon Manchester 1966

Liverpool Empire 1966 and 67

Talk of the Town 1968

Wakefield 1968

Fiesta Stockton 1968

Golden Garter 1969

Plus others...yes we met her on numerous occasions, she was always wonderful and found time for all of her fans. We often went to the shows and watched the 1st show and the 2nd performance, in those days we were totally besotted!

As I have said before my memory is not good, Carole has a better memory than me....just! 😊

Lovely to read all your stories...magic!

Aw its great to hear where they saw Dusty.

Unfortunately for me seeing Dusty live was virtually impossible because of one important issue [nope not cos I am in Australia.]...I wasnt BORN yet lol.

I love hearing people talk about them tho, and seeing footage. Kinda brings me there :O)

You can feel very fortunate to have seen her in concert or on tv appearances, I would have given (almost) anything because I really wanted to see her in concert, but right now, it's impossible 🙄 but I'm happy by all that got to see her.
