Simon has asked me to help promote the day with the following message, which I'm also posting on our FB pages and hopefully Cor will put on the website. Thanks! Be sure to reserve your tickets, if you haven't already, and plan to come.

The continuation of Dusty Day relies on the support and attendance of you the fans. Of course, we understand that circumstances change, and sometimes you can't make it, but if you are able to join us on April 13th don't forget to reserve your ticket at www.dustyday.co.uk The reservations help reassure us that you will be there and that the day will be as successful as the others. ~ Simon Bell

Four days after DD London is hosting "Modstock – 50 Years of Mod, which takes place over Easter, specifically 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th April 2014."

One of the featured acts will be a MOTOWN REVUE WITH BRENDA HOLLOWAY & THE VELVELETTES, Dusty's faves.

<http://www.modculture.co.uk/cityguides/modstock-50-years-of-mod-in-london/>

The primary venue is just a few blocks from BBC Broadcasting House.

If the budget won't stretch for that you might at least be able to pick up some discounted sixties style at ASOS:

Pleased to say I will be making it to DD after all! 🎉

Laura and I will spend a frugal week in Devon and then check into our Ealing Hotel on Saturday for a couple of nights. DD on Sunday of course and Plan to go to Henley on the Monday, too.

Staying near North Ealing station--has the necessary (and cheap) parking and was cheaper than either the TravelLodge or The Premier Inn for two nights! Hopefully the prices were cheaper when the others of you booked.

Can't wait to see you all. Let's plan a fun dinner for Saturday night.

Excellent Nancy 🙌 We're staying at the Premier Inn in Ealing at the beginning of March but got a room a few weeks back for £49.00 🍀 I've got my accommodation and transport to and fro DD worked out (you know who you are, so thank you 😊), what I'm not sure of is will I travel south by train or car? If car, I can make Henley on the Monday. Last year after DD we ate at http://www.cote-restaurants.co.uk/Cote ... aling.html and it was very nice.

Well I haven't booked my accommodation yet, but I will be at DD.

Glad to hear you will make it Nancy and I hope that many more Dusty fans and LTDers will be there too!

I am looking forward to a meet up on the Saturday night. 😊👍

As ever, not been on the site much recently. They've stopped me going on at work altogether. Anyway, I was planning to come DD again this year, until I saw the price of accommodation. £106 for 1 night at the humble Travelodge. Travel Inn is quite a bit more than that. AARRRRRGHHHHH!!! THAT'S REALLY PUT ME OFF. It's presumably because of the London marathon being on the same weekend. Oh well, maybe next year.

Steve, try around for some other places--nothing inexpensive but you can do better than 106 a night. Look on booking.com for example.

As for meet up on Saturday night, I think Neil and Pat and possibly others discussed it earlier on this thread. As no one has a flat, it will mean a meet up for dinner for LTDers in Ealing.

crazy prices there its a shame as it just makes the weekend too expensive.

I don't like to miss it but that venue just puts me off.

the last time I went there it just wasn't the same as previous Dusty days.

its such a shame as it was a great day out.

Finnegans wasn't wonderful but a much better area to be in for wandering around etc. the atmosphere was better too.

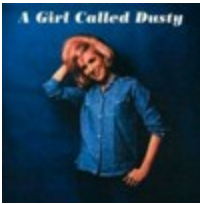

maybe they will change it next time. 😞

I've decided I definitely can't come, I have too much work to do (I only have two months left of uni!). Feeling a little bit sad about it, but fingers crossed I'll be driving next year so I'll be able to make my way to Henley if it's held there instead in 2015.

I will also be bringing to following items to aid in fundraising for DD. I was able to get a good deal having them printed, so just need to "sell" a few to recoup my costs and then I can donate the rest to be sold at the door. I think I will bring some to the dinner the night before, then, although I may ask Simon to auction the posters. Any thoughts?

50 of each of these fridge magnets, and 2 prints of Uwe Framerau's collage created for DD 09 (on 18 x 24 inch matte paper).

Sorry they're sideways.

All the best to you Tom. Hope you'll be feeling better soon.

Nancy, that fleece is AMAZING! It would look very good in your Dusty Room Neil. You must have it!!

I am am sorry you can't make it this year, Tom. We will miss you.

Check out the thread with the LTD fleece for charity. I've made one that folks here can bid on.

This will my first year attending Dusty Day. I will be visiting the London area from San Diego, CA. No matter where the event is held I feel it is an honor to celebrate the life of the greatest female singer that I have ever heard. Also, it is a pleasure to help raise money for breast cancer research. I am looking forward to a fun and wonderful day!

Thanks,
Nancy M.

Welcome to LTD, Nancy! If you are staying in the area, be in touch, as some of us will be meeting up for dinner in Ealing the night before Dusty Day.

I'm sure I speak for other LTDers attending DD when I say we look forward to meeting you.

Simon has recently announced on the DD facebook page that jonathan is not going to be there this year, he has had surgery and is fine but his recovery prevents him from attending, it really will not be the same without him, but health comes first. Im sure everyone wishes him a speedy recovery!

OMG! Emily Maguire is brilliant! I went to one of her gigs a few years back in London and met her afterwards and had a photo taken with her. She's a really lovely person! A few of her songs used to be played on the piped music played at the shop where I worked.

Ok, here goes, booked a TWIN room at Premier Inn for Sunday 13th April and there is only me in it. Cost £49.00 plus £8.50 each Full English. So if anyone stuck for a roof over their heads its cheap, half of £49.00 plus breakfast. Looks like they do inexpensive comfort food for evening. Don't know, never been.

Same for Henley the next day Monday 14th and Tuesday 15th April , again TWIN room booked for both days, at The Catherine Wheel, doesn't include food, £79.00 per day. Have looked on their website since booking and for some unknown reason their rooms are now £71.00 so don't know if this reduction will go on my booking, won't know until the day when booking in.

Have thought of cancelling this booking and re-book at new price but don't believe in tempting fate. so best left as it is.

By the way, for Henley, pay on the day. As most of you will know.

So, any advice, views, takers, all welcome.

Jennifer

Here are some photos from Dusty Day that Karen took of Lynn and Pat. 🌟

Lynn asked me to post them for her.

I am hopeless with taking photos and hardly took any on the day. I was having too much fun!

It really was a great day. Very much enjoyed by all! 🤪 🤪

Our heartfelt thanks must go to Simon!! 🙌 🙌 🙌 🙌

Not one of my better poses!!.(I will save you from another posting)

A nice sum raised, but not as much as last year as the auction did not create quite as much a return, I feel. From what Pat said I think her supply of Dusty items are running out, which is only to be expected. It is wonderful that she has given so much over the years. I was amazed when I heard Simon say that over the years of DD a total of £80,000 + had been raised for RM. Well done all fans past and present.

I'd rather see the world the way it used to be.....

It's a great thing all these years later that thousands of pounds are still being raised for The Royal Marsden and Breast Cancer Research. Dusty would be so pleased. 🌟🌸🌸❤️🙌🙌

Once again I have to thank you for such an astonishingly kind and generous cheque. It is really wonderful how many of Dusty's fans are still around and as I have said before, it is a great tribute to her memory. As always, can you please thank everyone and assure them that every penny will go to breast cancer research carried out here in The Royal Marsden.
