Apologies if this link has been posted before.. Its just an entertaining comparison between the careers of Dusty and Tina Turner..

Thought you may find it interesting, and as usual, comments are welcome. 😊

Thanks Carole,I think there are comparisons on a couple of levels.

I do think that Tina's 1984 comeback may have inspired Dusty to believe she could do it too.

I seem to remember Dusty mentioning Tina a couple of times in interviews, Dusty made reference to the production on Tina's Private Dancer album being a kind of US/UK hybrid and I think that was what Dusty envisaged for herself too.

I also remember reading Dusty recalling back to singing with Tina on (I think) RSG and Dusty said with the power of Tina's vocals she (Dusty) could not hear herself sing. I've never found any other information that they performed together though.

the RSG clip with Dusty and Tina must be with Dave Clark as otherwise they would have been on utube by now 🤔

I would love to see them together,love Tina Turner. 😊
