Those are great, Matt. Are you just as much a Springfields fan as a Dusty fan?

yes I am actually - Originally I only liked the Springfields because I didn't really know who Dusty Springfield was (as a soloist) but when I looked more into her I started to Like her just as much.

I've heard about The Springfields singing - So Long (it's been good to know you). And I wondered if you, or any one else, could tell me more about it because they never released it on record or CD.

Thanks

Matt.

If they did it on a live show, you might ask Fraser about it on the his Mp3 thread....or post a notice that you're looking for a copy of it under the I've Got a Good Thing forum.

Look, the images are from the same photo shoot.

That hair in the second one is just divine! Wonder if it's all hers?

I like the short nails, too. CG mentioned this in another thread.

Is this at your mum's house?

How did you stick them up so they don't get damaged?

What else is it that I spy there on your wardrobe?

Depends what you play or do you sing?

You can buy for piano on the internet... 😊

Gio, Gia,

Yes, Gio Geo, you can find some of these on the Internet. Also, you can start a thread under our forum called I've Got a Good Thing, telling people what you want. Often times members will trade things or send things. There's a fair amount of sheet music out there and at least a couple of books of Dusty's music.

What instrument do you play? If any? I'm sure most of the music is scored for piano. Or do you sing also, as Mads asked? If you sing you might want that Dusty background disc we were circulating last month....it has the orchestration but you have to sing along.
