

Let's Talk Dusty!

The Ultimate Forum for Dusty Springfield Fans
<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/>

Dusty's London

<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewtopic.php?f=7&t=2231>

Dusty's London

Page 1 of 1

by daydreamer

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 8:06 am

Simon has just put up a link on Facebook for a radio show on which at about 8.30 they're going to talk about "Dusty's London" and give a plug for Dusty Day. You can listen live here.....

http://www.bbc.co.uk/iplayer/console/p0 ... d_Tom_Knox

Re: Dusty's London

by Cardiff Bluesgirl

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 9:19 am

thanks for that it was really good apart from the host of the show who kept making stupid ,inane remarks.

a good plug for Dusty Day and ICMEACTT as his favourite track to play.I wish this was keepable but it will vanish I think after this week.

this is the longest review of her for sometime and was very positive about her. I think Russell is definitely a fan and they both agreed that she was the best British voice and couldnt think of anyone better than hers. 😊

I think we all agree with that and had long ago reached that conclusion. 😊

all in all a good clip about her, great to hear it,thanks Carole. 😊

Re: Dusty's London

by daydreamer

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 9:55 am

Couldn't agree with you more about the host Liz! He made himself sound like a total plonker! It's like "it's my show and my voice will be heard"! Not like he had anything useful to say either. The other guy was obviously a fan and any mistakes he made were small ones. The story was based around where Dusty lived from birth until the time she left London.

Re: Dusty's London

by Kathy

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 11:22 am

Thanks for posting Carole, I enjoyed listening to this and what a great plug for DD and to help keep Dusty's name foremost in the minds of the listening public. 🙌

Re: Dusty's London

by boztiggs

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 5:45 pm

great stuff, although i would have got ten years for grievous bodily harm on that idiot of a man, had i been there

Neil 🐱

Re: Dusty's London

by Cas19

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 6:37 pm

I've come to the conclusion that I must be proper thick as I can never get these links up! I click all the right options...nothing but a load of talking and not a whiff of Dusty! Can someone explain what I am doing wrong please, and maybe talk me through it idiot guide style!!

Casx

Re: Dusty's London

by daydreamer

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 10:57 pm

Right now Cas, if you just click the link and then move the bar forward to about 30 mins in, the Dusty segment should come on. It may change tomorrow and you would have to look for today's programme.

Re: Dusty's London

by trek007

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 10:57 pm

The Dusty bit starts at around 34 minutes into the prog Cas.

I enjoyed listening to that. Even got used to the idiot after awhile!!

Re: Dusty's London

by trek007

Posted: Thu Mar 10, 2011 11:04 pm

ups the 2 Caroles' post clashed!! 🤔

Re: Dusty's London

by Cas19

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 8:41 am

Thank you everyone I really did all that I simply couldn't find it, I still can't. I've been reassured that I'm not really missing anything!

Casx

Re: Dusty's London

by daydreamer

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 8:53 am

If anyone still wants to listen to this, you should be able to go right to it here...

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/p00f4605#p00fl856>

Re: Dusty's London

by Cas19

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 9:16 am

Thankyou Carole,I had no problem this time 😊 I am listening to it as I write. Its great that DD has had a mention, the host is getting on my nerves! The other guy sounds like hes reading it out from notes, but hes doing fine.

Thanks again.
Casx

Re: Dusty's London

by daydreamer

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 9:27 am

Yes, I'm sure he's reading from his notes but then only a fool would appear on radio trying to get their facts right without notes!

Re: Dusty's London

by Cardiff Bluesgirl

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 10:46 am glad you got it Cas it was worth the listen I think. also glad you all felt the same about the show host, he got on my whatsists 😊

yes he was reading from his notes but I thought he was quite good and as I said earlier,you could tell he was a fan and thats good to hear. 😊

Re: Dusty's London

by SweMaria

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 11:53 am

Thanks for posting about this Carole! 🙌

It was interesting to listen to the "Dusty part" of the radio show! 😊

Re: Dusty's London

by Carole R.

Posted: Fri Mar 11, 2011 10:02 pm

Enjoyed this enormously... 🙌

Just a few mistakes, but,quite a good potted history I thought. 🙌

Thanks for the link, Carole .. 🙌

CR xx