Hi everyone

33 Posts

Just to let you know there will be a special two page tribute to Dusty coming out on 25th February as part of the Lesbian and Gay Foundation's monthly magazine outnorthwest.

The feature which is part of a special women's issue of this long running mag for the lesbian and gay community in the North West of England features new and exclusive interviews with Simon Bell, Paul Howes, Sharon Davis & Mari Wilson. All talk about what Dusty means to them, her legacy and their favourite Dusty tracks - among other things.

This should compliment nicely the tribute BBC Radio Manchester's LGBT programme are doing too.

For those of you not in the North West of England and unable to get your mitts on a free copy fear not! Full unedited interviews will be featured on www.lgf.org.uk very soon.

If you would like a free copy mailing however please do send an e-mail to: info@lgf.org.uk

Thank you, Dee, and welcome. I'll look out for this. It seems so far this year it's the lesbian/gay (never understood that demarkation) community that are celebrating Dusty this year. Well, Hats Off!

Never understood what demarkation, Memphis?

Wish I could get my hands on a copy regardless, but I'll likely check out the website when I get a chance.

Hi again everyone

Just to say the full interviews are now available to read here:
<http://www.lgf.org.uk/news/outnorthwest/features/dusty-memories/>

Also the edited magazine version is available online here:
<http://www.lgf.org.uk/news/outnorthwest/>

2 page special on Dusty on page 30 which also features a lovely pic (I think) of her appearance in Manchester in 1968 I believe at the Golden Garter Club in glamorous Wythenshawe!

LGBT readers in the North West of England should be seeing their copies hit their favourite venues this week and of course we have the BBC Radio Manchester special to look forward to next Monday 2nd March - A whole hour devoted to Dusty which has been promoted quite heavily in the local area.

Also just a reminder if anyone is outside the North West (or indeed UK) and you want a copy I can mail to you. IT'S FREE!

Thanks all for your kind words of encouragement and support.

Yes Mary - no money need exchange hands lol ;)

It is a free mag for the LGB and T community produced in Manchester by The Lesbian and Gay Foundation.

Oh dear, I feel I've taken over this thread to promote our work when all I really want to do is get folk to read about Dusty!

I'll shut up now.x

Thanks very much for posting this Dee, I enjoyed the interviews. I liked Mari Wilson's comment about hearing What Have I Done To Deserve This for the first time- "Like a long lost friend had come home"

Thank you ever so much, Dee - it's really good to see Dusty being remembered and recalled, and appropriate that one of the groups to do so would be the LGBT community, who have always held her dear in our hearts.

I hope we will still see you here on the forum, where you are very welcome..

Thank you, again :)

Thanks very much, Dee. These are the best interviews I've read for a long time. They are very poignant too and make for a lovely tribute. The questions are just right and the answers are thoughtful and well said.

I can really relate to what Mari Wilson says about WHIDTDS. Hearing Dusty's gorgeous voice again was tremendously exciting. We were all talking about it because we were so delighted that Dusty was back in style. It's nice to have that memory from Mari.

Paul Howes on Dusty's legacy:

First and foremost her legacy is the exceptional quality of her body of recordings, but hopefully music history will also credit her as a pioneer for women in the music business.

This is the book that still needs to be written.

Just wanted to say a big thanks to 'Dee' and Joanne at outnorthwest for their generosity in handing over 50 copies of the magazine for me to bring to Dusty Day. Thanks also to Carole R for carrying half of them!

Thanks Carole

So sorry I missed you today but glad you managed to take plenty of copies.

Thanks to Will also for the lovely message and everyone who has given such positive feedback.

We've had requests for the mag from all over the place thanks to the Forum just popped one in the post to Canada today which is exciting!

The good thing for me is that everyone at work now knows how much Dusty is loved-even if they didn't before . I can talk about her even more now!

So glad I finally joined on here it really is a great community.

Hi Andrew, didn't know whether I was to use your real name or not, so stuck with the Dee! I'm also sorry I missed you, we could have had a bit of a Dusty chat, but Joanne filled me in on what a huge fan you are, so maybe we can catch up another time 🙄

Thanks N - my attempts to create an air of mystique didn't work very well lol

I just realised everyone had great member names on here and then I got stuck with it!

Even confused myself for a while ;)
