As you said Wend this album is awesome. I have it on the ABC/Dunhill "Beautiful Soul". There is only one track I'm not keen on "A love like yours". Thank the Lord the original tapes were not lost. Brooks Arthur did a great job.

I think it's a shame that hardly any of these tracks are ever played on radio stations.

Some gems here.

I agree with you on that track too Pat, and it is the one she or someone chose to sing on Top of the Pops I think.

But I prefer Elements/Longings to Dusty in Memphis. The first three songs in particular are just beautiful.

In The Winter being one of my all time favourites, and if you listen to her phrasing on that, it is just wonderful - Not together now. Kudos to Janis Ian as well for writing it.

It's hard to understand isn't it. Could it be that they just don't know about them, or there is copyright problems or something stupid like that.

Sadly it would appear that the radio world believe she only made one album (DIM), and about a dozen singles .

OK the late sixties and seventies were not her best years personally, but there are a lot of great tracks around which show off her voice at its prime. At least all her studio work is available (all be it at a cost for some) for us ,her fans, to enjoy.

Thanks Wend.  I am starting to love Make The Man Love Me & Angels now, which before I weren't so keen on like the other tracks.
