Straight from the success of Postcards from God - The Sister Wendy Musical

( METRO,  TIME OUT,  The Sunday Telegraph), Mr. Theatre are proud to present their latest project:

FANZINE - a new music and performance night on the second Sunday of every month at The Vauxhall Griffin.

Each month, FANZINE pays tribute to a classic pop or cult rock performer and invites you to join in with open mic slots throughout the night. You can perform your own material or a song by our artist of the month. Anything goes – get inspired and dust off your 12-string, do a little dance, or pen a poem perhaps.

The night launched on Sunday April 8th as FANZINE saluted DAVID BOWIE, with special guests Matt Winkworth, Planetzim and Des De Moor.

The night's creator and host Marcus Reeves hopes FANZINE will follow in Bowie's own footsteps:

"Way back in the sixties, Bowie ran an 'arts lab' in Beckenham, where people could come down and perform whatever they wanted – sing, dance, read poetry – that's exactly the same approach I have for FANZINE – there may not be joss sticks or free love, but the ethic is just as open and welcoming."

Sunday May 13th sees the team salute the first lady of blue-eyed soul, DUSTY SPRINGFIELD, with guest spots from singer songwriters The Gadsdens, Christianne Beck and drag sensation Timberlina. Marcus says Dusty is a true icon for our age:

"Dusty Springfield's songs and voice are timeless, whether singing the soul-tinged hits that brought her fame in the sixties, or her smash-hit collaborations with The Pet Shop Boys. Dusty managed to be spirited and classy – an everyday woman with a hint of mystique – oh and a good old-fashioned dash of camp! They sure as hell don't make them like that any more."

The FANZINE team have already drawn up an extensive list of artists they aim to salute in future months, with June paying tribute to another late great:

Sunday June 10th: BILLY MACKENZIE

Your host: Marcus Reeves, Resident DJ: DJ Ian Aitch. Featuring guest spots from some of London's finest singers, poets and performers.

FANZINE is on the second Sunday of every month from 6 til 10 pm at The Vauxhall Griffin (formerly Wyvils), Wyvil Road, London, SW8 2TH – Entry £4.00
