Thanks everyone. Yes stop understating Ms C, I'm the one that's supposed to go over the top. It's in my genes, my family are all nutters, well 90% of them.

You know Wendy, every time I see a new post from you in this thread, my poor little heart all but skips a beat, in the hope you have posted another fine work - and I'm delighted that today, you have. This image is - as always - quite stunning. And what strikes me most about this portrait is how very life-like it is - it's almost like looking at a photograph, such is the realism in what you have so beautifully created. Your works just get better and better every time, Wendy. Magnificent.

As I scrolled up to the latest installment (I knew there was a new Wend masterpiece coming up)..at first glance I thought it was an actual photo. 😊 This one really has some presence...what a hat. 🤩
Another fabulous job, mad sketcher.

Wendy your sketching of eyes are amazing, you get the feeling that the pictures are going to jump out at you and come to life. I am surprised you are not a well known artist making millions and your works aren't hanging in museums!

Oh thank you all for your kind comments again.

Marty - I do concentrate on getting the eyes as exact as I can, because I think it's really important to the picture to get that - shall we say - twinkle in Dusty's eyes.

Let's pretend we're cats instead of people and go roll around and scratch an old latch hook rug together.

JOSH 😊

There is a garden
Something like the shadow of a butterfly
And lies beyond the gates of dark and light
And darling, it belongs to me
