Well I hope they do Will, cause that's the reason I do them, apart from the fact that it amuses me and keeps me out of mischief too.

I think it's fair to say that everyone here loves your artwork Wendy - and, further, that we appreciate that you take the time not only to do it, but also to share it with us all. I also think it is fair to say that your talent is undoubtedly deepening.

Wendy, I wanted to let you know that the picture arrived. Actually it arrived yesterday when I was at work so my neighbour took it in, and she gave it to me when she saw me leaving the house early this morning. I love it!! And so did she lol - I couldn't resist unwrapping it before I left.

My plan is to frame it tomorrow and assuming I do, I'll take a picture and post it

This one Cas, but it's taking time because the hair is quite a mass of tangle. LOL But I fell in love with this picture as soon as you put it on with all the hair. I love the hair. Always wanted to get mine like that.

I look forward to seeing this one finished Wend, its quite a challenge but I think you have a way of really getting the hair just right.

Me too! I always thought that was a great image of Dusty, certainly belonging to a particular moment in time, but quite fabulous regardless of that.

Amazing pictures! When I saw the one at Dusty Day last year I was speechless. These are unique tributes to Dusty. Beautiful! Inspired! Inspiring!

Wendy, thank you for posting these for all of us to see. I love all the ones I've seen so far but your recent 70s Dusty is my favorite. Oddly, I'd never really cared for that picture but your rendering of it has turned me around. The beehive for Will is truly a towering achievement :)

Can't wait to see what you do with the latest one. Perhaps you'll bring it to Dusty Day?

Thank you Annie, and Cas - I always hope everyone will enjoy them.

Look forward to seeing you again at DD Annie.

You too of course Will, and I should be able to recognise you this year, provided you haven't shaved all you hair off. LOL
