Wendy, I am so thrilled that - at last - you are realising just how exquisite your portraits actually are (we've all been telling you just that for months lol).. anyway, don't tell anyone)

Would you mind if I update your portraits page on the LTD website and add the link to your site, Wendy?

Thank you Clive.

Yes of course Will, no probs. It didn't really occur to me that it was necessary Will, cause they are all on here, so I was just playing around and practising building a website really, and I didn't

And Frans that is hilarious, it will probably be like that forever.

Thanks Mauri, still one or two to go on, including the one of Katy and the one you've got, but I'm getting round to it.

That really isn't one of my favourite Dusty pics Wendy, but you've made a crackin' job of it! Well done 🙌

I know what you're saying Carole - I hated that picture until I saw it with all the hair. It did make her look a bit like the devil, but when I saw the whole picture, I just fell for it. Because every part of her face, it is beautiful individually and as a whole -so I think I was a bit brainwashed by not having the picture presented to me properly as a whole. That has now changed

I just think that this photo makes Dusty look so hard, the eye make up is much too much and her hair is at it's worst....obviously this is just my opinion. Dusty could have been better because you asked him to darken the drawing Wendy, but I think I like it better in the pale. Just off to look at your web site 🙌

I think the art work is fabulous. The accuracy is amazing. If I get round to buying some raffle tickets it will just be because of the chance to get the art work prize.

I agree with Carole about this image of Dusty. Personally, when I look at these particular photos I can see that Dusty had been to hell and back and she had been through a lot. It makes it difficult for me to celebrate these photos.

I've always found the photo amazing and I love the drawing you did Wendy. I like your lighter version better (sorry Will) and the area around the eyes might need a bit more work.

Wendeh, your website is really looking good! And your latest drawing is fantastic. I truly admire you to taking on the task of rendering the iconic one. As I often say, it's a tough period to draw, and of course reminds me of Butterflies (as this was the photo on the 45 cover), but the image shows me that Dusty made the best of it.

How much of your life is dedicated to these drawings, mah deah?

It lost some of its subtlety in the darker version.

Thanks everyone, and thanks for those two coloured ones Will.

Bosseh I don't spend an awful lot of time on the pictures honestly. I just do a half hour here and a half hour there. I chip away at it when I feel like it. But if I really ultra careful. I suppose it is possible that I might put in 2 hours over a day, but they would be in half hour bursts, and that wouldn't be every day. I probably work and running, I just play at it.
