Does anyone have this tribute CD that came out a few years ago and what do you think of it?
The clips of the first four tracks all seem quite faithful to the original versions.

Here's a little info about the CD. With artists like The Butchies, Indigo Girls, Jill Sobule, and Carole Pope, it sure sounds worthy buying. You can hear sound samples on Clive's link, too.

"From bucking apartheid in South Africa, introducing the Motown Sound to Europe, duetting with Jimi Hendrix on her TV show, to adding her warm vocals to the cool of the Pet Shop Boys and bringing the perfect mood to "Pulp Fiction," Dusty Springfield added class to whatever material she performed.

Hers is a voice for all time. Hers is a voice of continuing power and inspiration to today's top artists.

While breast cancer took Dusty's life on March 2, 1999, the timeless legacy of this Rock and Roll Hall of Famer lives on for millions of fans and fellow musicians.

A portion of the proceeds from sales of "Forever Dusty" benefits breast cancer support organizations.

"Forever Dusty" features new recordings - unavailable anywhere else - of Dusty Springfield classics by some of today's most innovative women artists.

The artists are among the cutting-edge of contemporary popular music. Many are well established within their genres. Others are expected to emerge as significant forces.

These are the women who are mainstays at all the big festivals and concert halls - from Lilith, Newport, Winterhawk, Telluride, Bumbershoot, Kerrville, and Merle Fest to The Bottom Line, Club Passim, Tin Angel, Birchmere, Cat's Cradle, Bluebird Café, Eddie's Attic, Mucky Duck, Troubadour, Freight & Salvage, Great American Music Hall, Tractor Tavern, etc.

The music consists of time-tested songs by writers with substantial critical and popular acclaim--writers responsible for multiple millions of record sales.

With these songs, artists and the Dusty magic, "Forever Dusty" is a powerful tribute."

I bought the CD when it first came out and to be honest I think I played it maybe once or twice. Some of the covers were good but once my curiosity was eased, I never played it again. I just prefer to hear the songs by Dusty.

The Indigo Girls are usually good, and Jennifer Kimball is a great (if little known) singer. Does anyone know if you can get this on iTunes? I'd like to pick up just those couple of tracks.

There are clips to all the songs here, and Mads, trust me, CArole Pope's is the worst cover ever, even if she wrote the song! (I have it in full on some other CD).

I could be wrong, but this could be an all-sister release...

Nothing compares to Dusty, but what I like about some of these is how they reinterpret the song on their own terms, rather than trying to out-Dusty it. I've added it to my burgeoning wish list.
