It seems that Dusty is to be "honoured" with a guitar sculpture on Sunset Strip 😊 I can't help feeling that she would be really thrilled about this. It may not be a star on the pavement but it's recognition in Hollywood after all 🌟 Should anyone be wandering down Sunset and spot Dusty's guitar, a picture would be lovely 😊

Before I went into the link I was trying to imagine what one would look like Carole, not quite what I had in mind, but even better. Yes I'm sure Dusty would be thrilled. I would love a pic too.

So I'm wonderin how the Guitar Statues are personalised to the Stars they represent?..They look pretty impressive, I must say. 😊

Do they bear the Stars name?..I think one I saw had bore a drawing of the star it represented (Don't know who it was).. ?

Anyway, It sounds like a hip idea, I much prefer guitar statues to the plaster cows that were dotted all over Manchester a few years ago. 😊

Great that they've chosen Dusty, and yes, I think she would be highly chuffed. 🙌

👍 Good for you nicole ! Good we have a scout on the west coast. These guitars are part of a traveling show, but I don't know the details. 🤔 Just that the gutars are Les Pauls. 😎

What's wrong wtih the cow statues? 🤔🤔🤔

Seriously, good for Dusty. I can't wait to see what they come up with.
Should be an acoustic a la "Anna" 😊

Hi everyone!

Over the Easter break I had a poke around the Sunset Strip to see how easy to spot these guitars would be ... turns out they're nice and distinctive! I managed to find at least 5 of the current 9 without any problem at all.

So once we know when the remaining 15 will be installed (and if I'm still in town at that stage) I'll head back out and go paparazzi-style on Dusty's for us all 😊

In the meantime, here's a brochure on what the current nine look like and where they are situated (only managed to find this after my expedition, otherwise would have gotten to them all!)
