I just read this on Yahoo. He died earlier this morning (15 August) at his home in Florida. There is plenty of mention of his early work at Atlantic, and his work with Aretha Franklin and other musicians in the late 70's. There is also a small mention of Miss Dusty and his work with her on 'Dusty In Memphis'.

Quite welcome. I think we're all grateful to him for guiding Miss Dusty in making her masterpiece. Indeed, may he rest in peace.

91 is such a great age for anyone in the music business. What a life, what a great contribution he made. I felt sad about Jerry earlier this morning when I found out his life support was going to be turned off. Now I'm just grateful for his music. I hope he'll be celebrated and saluted.

Dusty had Jerry guaranteed as her producer in her Atlantic contract. Jerry said the after life of 'Dusty in Memphis' had been one of the joys of his own life. Despite the torture of making that album and despite Dusty throwing an ash tray at him. Cool guy.

Sorry to hear of the passing of Jerry Wexler. Dusty In Memphis is a fitting tribute to him and Dusty.
