

Let's Talk Dusty!

The Ultimate Forum for Dusty Springfield Fans
<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/>

Collecting Dusty records

<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewtopic.php?f=8&t=6992>

Page 1 of 1

Collecting Dusty records

by dig123

Posted: Mon Nov 17, 2014 7:20 pm

Looking on Ebay and Amazon, I find that the prices of her records are all over the place. I know in general any collectible should be in excellent condition. What about a promo vinyl, white label, 45 or 33. Once in a while I'll come across an item like this. I've heard if you've won a record from a radio station it's worth more. Any info would be appreciated. I love the albums I've found so far. They sound very good. Thanks!

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by Brian

Posted: Mon Nov 17, 2014 7:38 pm

For me Dusty's records are 'priceless' !!!

...but it's very rare to find ANY of her records in charity shops (I wonder why?!)

Brian

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by Cardiff Bluesgirl

Posted: Tue Nov 18, 2014 5:01 pm

Yes some of the cds are crazy prices. I have just had "See all her faces" on cd from amazon for a tenner 🤪 normally its a mad price.

i have it on L.P. and a burnt copy from a Dusty pal so was pleased to get this one.

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by darren2722

Posted: Tue Nov 18, 2014 5:05 pm

Brilliant buy Liz. 🙌 Mine cost £50. 🙄 😊

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by dig123

Posted: Wed Nov 19, 2014 8:36 pm

Recently received See All Her Faces on vinyl to add to my collection. I play the lp once to make sure it's in good condition then pack it away with the rest. Don't want anything to happen to them. Prefer to listen to CDs.

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by mnmcv1

Posted: Thu Nov 20, 2014 3:23 pm

Collecting Dusty's records has been very challenging in the US- I come across the odd album here and there at Flea Markets and second-hand stores but it's usually records i already have.

Strangely, I've probably come across 4 or 5 copies of Living Without Your Love on different occasions (including one at the legendary, now defunct Colony Records in Manhattan).

My biggest score (so far) was finding Cameo in amazing condition and paying like $3 for it.

At this point the hunt is on for DIM...and I refuse to pay $40-$50 on eBay!

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by dig123

Posted: Thu Nov 20, 2014 8:32 pm

I hear ya Markus. The most I've paid so far is $17 for one of her albums but I just purchased DIM for under $20. It's a white label promo. Looks like it's in excellent condition. I'll see when I get it. This could turn into a real expense if I'm not careful!! lol

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by IWannaBeABluesSinger

Posted: Fri Nov 21, 2014 6:02 pm

Beware of promo records, except as collectibles. They were usually pressed on re-used vinyl - returned records that were melted down. Therefore they are brittle and the sound is not as good as the first press albums.

Maggie

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by dig123

Posted: Fri Nov 21, 2014 9:17 pm

Thanks for the tip Maggie. That's the kind of info I'm looking for. I did some research and decided to take a chance. It did state 1st press and it looks pretty good so I'll see how it plays when I receive it.

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by JMFabianoRPL

Posted: Mon Dec 08, 2014 6:33 pm

Do you need Cameo-thru-White Heat? I have them on my eBay store, at jmfabianorpl.

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by pat.dunham

Posted: Mon Dec 08, 2014 9:34 pm

I recently purchased a promo of "It begins Again" it appears genuine as Universal appears on the disc. The quality is excellent but of course I miss the sleeve notes. Buying back catalogue is so expensive so you have to take a risk.

Trying to collect CDs of all Dustys 14 studio albums, nearly there!

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by dig123

Posted: Tue Dec 09, 2014 1:07 am

I finally received and listened to DIM promo. It looks and sounds great! From what I've read, some of the promos are the very first pressed and have better sound quality. I came across a white promo copy of Led Zepplin and compared it's Atlantic label to DIM. Looked exactly the same so I took a chance.

Speaking of Led Zep, does anyone have the record with LZ on one side and Dusty on the other? That must be something!!

I do have Cameo not White Heat. I will check it out. Thanks!

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by JMFabianoRPL

Posted: Tue Dec 09, 2014 6:36 pm

I have White Heat, and Living Without Your Love and It Begins Again (standard version AFAIK...)

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by mnmcv1

Posted: Wed Dec 10, 2014 7:16 pm

It took forever to get all of Dusty's albums on CD.

At the time I couldn't get IBA for less than $50, so Frans was kind enough to help me out.

Taylor sent me all of the Jeff Barry tracks compiled on one CD (for which I made a CD cover and called it Faithful: The Jeff Barry Sessions). He also put all the Longing tracks on one disc and included "Corner of the Sky". That was very cool.

Also, I couldn't find See All Her Faces anywhere at the time, but i found i had all the tracks on various compilations, so i just put them all in order on one disc and made my own. 😊

Re: Collecting Dusty records

by dig123

Posted: Tue Dec 30, 2014 7:04 pm

Dusty/Led Zep LP is on ebay. I've been watching it. Up to $205. Wow!!!! too expensive fore me!! Have never seen this album before.

Powered by phpBB® Forum Software © phpBB Group
<http://www.phpbb.com/>

All times are UTC + 1 hour
Page 1 of 1