Dusty As Narrator.

Just been going through my Dvds recorded off of the Telly and come across Burt Bacharach - This Is Now from 1997. 🤔 is this the sole case of Dusty being a narrator, or can anyone come up with any other examples? 🙄🙄

With her Beautiful Tones you would have thought the TV companies would have been queuing up for her services or maybe she politely refused other offers 🤔🤔

Wouldn't it be great if she had read for books on tape?

I could not agree more. Her voice is magical, just love her interviews. A voice so rich, sexy and down-right mesmerizing. It is a shame she didn't read a couple of books on tape or do some voice overs. Our loss.

I can't think of any more narration that Dusty did but she did do a couple of radio shows where she acted as DJ...all her own work. One was called Star Special (2hr) on Radio 1 in '79 and is great to listen to, the other, right now, I can't remember! But it was shorter.

"Somehow it seems the love I need is always the most destructive kind."

So dusty narrates the introduction to Yesterday When I Was Young.

It blows me away 🙄 no matter how many times I hear it.

I love to hear Dustys narrating voice too, and I have the DJ ones somewhere...but where?

just love her speaking too. and I love the dj sessions. all the interviews she did were fun too and her message to the Dusty fans when she couldn't make it as she was getting ready to " do Dame Edna show"

I loved her saying she had found her "pretty " new house.
