Hi All

Have been reading Annie's Dusty Queen of the Post Mods. This is a great and detailed piece of work and has given me a fresh insight into Dusty and her cultural impact. 🙌🙌🙌🙌🙌

Indeed it has taken me many readings to absorb all of the detail in the book. 🙌

She refers to a documentary that was broadcast on Radio 2 in 2006. I would love to hear this prog.

Does anyone have a copy or know how I can access it? 🙌

By the way I am loving the forum ❤️ It is filled with such lively people and animated discussion!! 🙌

Donella x

Don't know about this Donella but my mother said that Dusty has been mentioned a lot on Radio 2 over past few weeks...

You can listen to the documentary here (56 min). You need to have Flash Player installed.

It was broadcast on 14 Nov 2006.

Thanks Cor. 🙌 Great Insights there, Wouldn't want to get on the wrong side of Nina Simone. 🙌 love the bit of Give Me Time with Dusty singing without the Orchestra. 🙌

Thanks so much for DIM Doc - a great listen. It's amazing what brings us drawn to Dusty - yours was Agnetha, so you can blame her for your make-up etc . Thanks also for all your work on the forum. We all know that if we have a query "Ask Cor" and an answer will appear.

Sorry you can't make DD -it would have been great to meet up.

Pat xx

PS: Query :I left click on smilies and all I get is the word not the symbol.

Well I just tried to download Flash onto my computer. No luck!

It tells me to close internet explorer, so I have done that and it still tells me to close internet explorer!

Not sure what to do.

Don't really understand what is happening.

I have now downloaded Flash Player but I still can't see the link for this programme 🗑️

Very frustrated! 😞

Pat: Glad you liked the docu! I had bought the Silver Collection to hear the original of Agnetha's cover of My Colouring Book, and I was hooked. 😊

Re the smilies - they are computer code in your text editor, but will turn into smilies when you submit your post. 😊 <- this one looks like [:)] in your editor.

Donella: Try to re-start your computer, that might help. Good luck!

Yes! Of course!

Good idea!!

Sorry. It is still not working.

Should I be seeing a link in your message?

Does it matter that when I am in the editor it shows [flash] is OFF?

If Flash Player installed correctly, my post should look like this:

That flash is off in your editor only means that you can't post flash content, but you can still view it.

Give me a moment, and I'll PM you.

Just to let you see Cor, this is how the message looks for me.

Last night I uninstalled then reinstalled Flash, and I rebooted my computer. But I still couldn't see the link so I am really not sure what is happening. 🤔 🙄

Thanks a lot for your help.

Can you take a screen shot? Cos what I see looks exactly like the pic I posted. Maybe your error message will help identify the problem.

Hi Cor, this is what I see.

This is what the forum looks like for you?? Wow, this floored me. It looks very different from what I see.

Actually, the forum is supposed to look purple and pink. We chose that skin since it's Dusty's favourite colours. It seems your computer, or maybe your antivirus software, blocks a great deal of stuff for some reason or other. Among them, the forum's skin and flash player. It's very difficult to try to help without actually sitting at your computer...

Hopefully, we can find work-arounds should you require assistance in the future. 😊 😞

Hi Cor

You know it is very strange but now the forum is in the right colours. And presenting in the way it is meant to.

I have to say I still can't see the link you posted for the DIM Documentary. But everything else is as it should be

I saw Cas's post saying the forum looked different. But that is how it has always looked to me - up until now that is!

All is well now, I hope. 😊

Thanks to your screen shot, I could adjust a few settings, so the colours should look right now. 😊

Since Flash is something you have to install into your computer locally, I can't help any further than what I've tried to...
