Hi Fans,

I just was wondering if Dusty ever played an instrument live in Concert. I know that I read at any time that Dusty played the piano and guitar. I also saw on YouTube a clip where Dusty performs in a young age a self-written song called "I love the piano" (which sounds very interesting!).

Thank you.

Dusty didn't write I Love The Piano. It's an old American Tin Pan Alley song from the 1910's written by Egbert VanAlstyne.

Dusty got her start accompanying herself on guitar when she sang in supper clubs. In a four hour shift she sang, and played, up to a hundred songs.

If Dusty ever played an instrument in concert it was most likely in her Springfield days, and then probably a tambourine or maracas.

'I Love A Piano' was actually written by Irving Berlin and first published in December 1915. The song that Egbert van Alstyne had a hand in writing was 'Pretty Baby', which he co-wrote with Tony Jackson and Gus Kahn. Both songs first appeared in Ragtime Selection on the Simply Dusty boxed set.
