

Let's Talk Dusty!

The Ultimate Forum for Dusty Springfield Fans
<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/>

Watched Just Dusty DVD again

<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewtopic.php?f=8&t=885>

Page 1 of 1

Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by pandy063

Posted: Thu Apr 29, 2010 8:35 pm

Ok - I watched my DVD "Justy Dusty" again last evening - afterwards one can choose to watch selections from the bonus portion/extras. There's topics like, Tea with Dusty or such and Anecdotes, etc. in the Tea one there are Dusty's friends, such as Nona Hendryx, Lee and her husband and Vicki Wickham. At one point when they are sharing memories and events with Dusty - Lee & her husband said Dusty had a visitor in their home, but that this particular visitor would not come down the stairs the whole time she was visiting. They also referred to her as being sort of well, scarey.

Who might this be? Does anyone care to reveal? Please. I thought it sounded so funny.

Pandy063

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by Corinna

Posted: Sat May 01, 2010 1:04 pm

I'd need to watch it again, Marea!

But maybe someone can shed some light on this mystery woman?

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by allherfaces

Posted: Sat May 01, 2010 5:50 pm

I have no idea who they were talking about, and had a bit of a different reaction. I thought it was kinda cheesy they were talking about Dusty that way.

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by jeffery

Posted: Sat May 01, 2010 6:45 pm

Makes you wonder what kind of cheese was edited from that conversation.

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by pandy063

Posted: Sun May 02, 2010 3:14 pm

I can't be terribly serious and glum about it. It was on a DVD I bought and loved the musical information and video of DS. The added anecdotes, etc were very interesting. I am not judging. It is what it is and it was published for all fans to see. It was the way they said it. Struck me funny at the time and peaked my curiosity like it was suppose to.

I imagine with most people in our world - people talk. People are going to mention funny things, so hand me some crackers with the cheese and I will have a little wine too!

Take it easy

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by allherfaces

Posted: Sun May 02, 2010 4:46 pm

I'm not stressed, just thought it was tacky.

But I'll join you for the wine and cheese.

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by Corinna

Posted: Sun May 02, 2010 8:34 pm

I really like the Anecdote part (the scenes they had to cut from the programme), but when I watched the Tea With Dusty bit, I thought 'are they really aware that this is for a DVD for the general market?' Cos it sounds like they're just chatting away among friends, very internal and sometimes hard to understand. And then suddenly it's cut off right in the middle of the conversation. Did they run out of DVD time?

There were some funny bits though, like the story of Nicholas' penthouse, and shopping from the ambulance. What an eccentric lady Dusty was! 😊

And I like that Lee Everett says that Dusty's grave always is covered in flowers. One floral tribute would be our LTD flowers! 🙌

Now pour me some more wine, please! chink! 🍷

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by pandy063

Posted: Mon May 03, 2010 11:39 pm

One of my favorite parts of the chatting on the "Just Dusty" dvd was the stopping the ambulance for shopping too. Funny lady Dusty was! Hilarious and sense of humour well intact!

I enjoyed hearing about Nicholas' pet tree and how Lee was wondering how they could get rid of it. 😊

Of course the flower bit was a nice menton 😊

I think they must have run of of time or room on what could be placed on the DVD.

This evening I am actually enjoying a red. It's a Cabernet Sauvignon named "Carr" from California' Napa Valley. Quite good. My Irish, Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier is lying next to me as my kitty cat, Tiki jumps about.

Life IS good. 🍷

xo Marea

Re: Watched Just Dusty DVD again

by Corinna

Posted: Tue May 04, 2010 8:21 am

pandy063 wrote:

I enjoyed hearing about Nicholas' pet tree and how Lee was wondering how they could get rid of it.

xo Marea

Maybe cat owners should make contact with Lee! 🍷