Hi Gang, Middle of nowhere played on SOTS this morning, listening to the 'wha hey hey's' which are a prominent part of this song, got to me thinking, who did sing the backing on this song?

I'm guessing one of the backing singers was Madeline, but I'm unsure....could anyone inform me please?

Kiki Dee and Madeline Bell were on the NME performance.

Was Lesley Duncan also on this? She was on many back up tracks for Dusty, and a lovely person too!

Alan Price played the piano on "Middle of Nowhere" and Doris Troy may also be on this but I'm not sure.

Matt, Lesley had a spell as a solo performer and had a couple of minor hits, though I can't remember which!!

Mark! -

The Echoes did the backing for NME '66. Madeline Bell, Lesley Duncan and Kiki Dee were the backups. 😊

The backing vocals on the record were Madeline, Lesley, Doris and Dusty herself. And you're right Jonathan, Alan Price on piano. It's an absolutely fabulous sound, my favourite of all Dusty's upbeat tracks.

Oh dear, I can't believe I remembered all that! It's years ago now but thanks, my lovely Carole, for backing me up!

Thanks for the info Carole, I had no idea Doris T backed Dusty!

Thanks for your info too Matt, Babs was at the NME awards that particular year too!

She definitely did Sophie and Dusty returned the favour backing Doris on I'll Do Anything.
