Misheard Dusty Lyrics (#p12354)

by mnmcv1 » Fri Mar 26, 2010 3:28 pm

So I'm with my cousin, driving in my car, and I have White Heat playing.
"I Am Curious" comes on, and he asks me "what is she saying???"

He thought the first 2 lines were "I'm curious, I wanna know...I'm on the D-List, I let it show..."

Corinna had mentioned a thread of this sort being started. After this, I had to... 😊 so, has anyone misheard lyrics to a Dusty song, & got a surprise when you learned she was saying something else?

'I AM CURIOUS' - LYRICS

'I am curious, I wanna know
I'm an idealist, I'll let it show
I'm curious with myself
I'm delirious wanting

The noise that announces a seduction
I'm a volcano
In a state of eruption
I live life with wild intensity
Need to be aroused
To the point of intimacy

(chorus)

What are your motives ?
I got to know
I'm doing research
I got to know

Tell me your motives oh,oh

here - repeat first verse
then...

The fusing, the melting of two bodies
I'm addicted to lethal sexuality
I live life on the edge of ecstasy
Need to be desired
Nothing else fulfills me

repeat chous

repeat first verse - twice

then
Yes, I'm curious, I wanna know
I'm an idealist, I'll let it show
I am curious with myself
Too delirious from singing
'Cause I am curious, I wanna know
I'm an idealist, I'll let it show
I'm curious with myself
I'm delirious from wanting'

HEAVY!....Not exactly 'moon in June' is it? 😊

I still sometimes hear her singing "the autumn leaves are turning to the colour of despair" when it's supposed to be "the autumn leaves are turning to the colour of his hair" (Windmills of your mind).

At the beginning of Arrested by You, Dusty sings...

What is this strange elation?
Taking my train of thought to an unknown destination
And suddenly I don't know where I am
But like a tremor or a spark
Something's happening in my heart

But I used to hear... 🤔
 What is this strange elation?
 Taking my train of thought to an unknown destination
 And suddenly I don't know where I am
 My pajamas made a start
 Something's happening in my heart

one of Dusty's songs that really tripped me up early on was "Nothing Has Been Proved (that I didnt know anything about the Profumo Scandal didnt help, either). I had a few of the lyrics wrong-

"Even Mandy's looking worried, Christine's pale and drawn"

"Even Mandy's looking worried, Christine's getting drunk"

"The funeral's very quiet, because all his friends have fled..."

"If you, Rosemary cried, because all his friends are fair..."

Yeah that one's a tough one--lots of words 🤔 And if you don't know anything about the Profumo affair/scandal with Mandy Rice-Davis, Christine Keeler and Stephen (the Osteopath) the words are difficult to follow and make any sense out of. However, a quick Google will put you up to speed on the meaning of the lyrics. 😊 It was a big deal with MI5, spies, and cloaks and daggers. It has even been suggested with some evidence, that Stephen Ward was actually murdered (rather than taking an overdose) by agents of MI5 anxious to protect their espionage antics.

Dusty has said herself, that she was busy with her career and it wasn't until much later that she got to know the details of this famous event that rocked the British Government of the day.

Sometimes I know what I hear makes no sense, but I'm too lazy to look up the lyrics. 😬 Today, though, I did and realised that I got these ones slightly wrong:

Morning please don't come: I heard "When the stars have left the sky, we must say fun goodbye" when it should be "fond goodbye". 🙄😬

Far away places: I heard "I pray for the day I can get under way and look for those castles in space" which, of course, should be "Spain". 🙄😬

Top

Re: Misheard Dusty Lyrics (#p14554)by ErgoFergo » Mon Apr 12, 2010 4:42 pm

I think I prefer castles in space, Cor.

This isn't really a misheard lyric, but I do occasionally stifle a snigger when I listen to Will you love me tomorrow?:

"Can I believe the magic of your size?"

Ooh, matron! 🙄

(It's OK - I know it's sighs... 😬)

I'm on the fence- i once figured it was about an ex who's come back around.

but...he's sounding more and more like a repeat customer... 😊

I have another- I just looked up the lyrics to "Tupelo Honey".
Dusty's saying "I heard a tale of old Manhattan..."

I thought she was saying "Ol' Mad Hatter".

in my defense, the song has some strange lyrics... 😊

LOL!

my ex thought Dust was saying "just re-close the can". Your guess is as good as mine of what that means.

has anyone noticed how unusual her enunciation is on "Donnez-Moi"?

i looked up the lyrics- i had half the verses wrong, her little adds during the chorus ("I'm uncontrollable"?), but that bridge is really tough. I figured these weren't the lyrics, but it sounded to me like she was saying:

a man I crushed and spited...is gonna eat your corn... 🤔 beautiful song.

(Carole Boyer Sager/Melissa Manchester)

I wake up and see

The light of the day
Shining on me
Make my own time
It's mine to spend
Think to myself
My own best friend

It's not so bad all alone
Comin' home to myself again

Now I understand
Whatever I feel is whoever I am
Watching my life and how its grown
Looking on back to friends I've known

Its not so bad all alone
Coming home to myself again

It's not so bad to get lost in my tears
And to laugh and to cry for the years gone by Oh my...

Now, somehow I know
I've come a long way
Got a long way to go
But something inside
Keeps making me strong
And in the bad times
I'll get along

'Cause it's not so bad all alone
Comin' home to myself again

I'm Comin' home

 I believe I'm hearing a British euphomism which my American brain doesn't understand.
In the Mother's Pride commercial it sounds like Dusty is singing, "I'm a happy knocker upper".
Can someone translate that phrase please ?

The one that I get a laugh of, without even resorting to homonyms, is "You Don't Have To Say You Love Me," "believe me, I'll never tie you down."

Well, Dusty, that might have been the problem.

I think it means she just likes waking people up. The other meaning of the phrase couldn't apply, Dusty being female.

The first time I came across knocking someone up used in the sense of waking someone up was in a Sherlock Holmes story and I did a double take.

 That's good Tommy. In the context of that bread commercial I can see that meaning. In my mind I was trying to rationalize a knocker upper being a fertile young woman, maybe 20 to 30 years old, and I thought, "What has that got to do with a loaf of bread" ?

"Half a mule, half a jet" - For a long time, I was quite convinced Dusty sang that in "Come back to me". I mean, I can imagine having days feeling like that; I even thought it was quite an ingenious metaphor for being slightly off balance emotionally.

But it turned out she sings "hop a mule, hop a jet".

i just figured out the chorus to "Baby Blue"! 😊

I thought it was something like "you got me, wanna try you..."

she's saying "you got me worn out trying..."

also, i had no idea what she was saying in the second verse. It was either:

"If I'm on, and I decide to come inside you heart" or

"If I'm on a mountainside to come inside your heart"

in reality, it is "If I follow my desire to come inside your heart..."

Unfortunately i have to apologize to one of our members for passing on an erroneous Dusty lyric, but in this case i can blame it on the internet. 🤦

I looked up the lyrics to "Who Gets Your Love" a while back, and the site i found the lyrics on had the following posted as the second refrain of the chorus (after the 2nd verse):

Who gets your love when I'm gone?
 Will she lift your stain and then
 Rub your head, take the pain away?

well, after relaying that bit of knowledge, i checked the lyrics on another site. Then another one. And by the third i realized the original site had the WRONG lyric. 😞😞

Who gets your love when I'm gone?
 Will she let you stay in bed
 Rub your head, take the pain away?

What most have now agreed is "Gonna incite you" originally made my eyes bug out and my jaw drop the first time I heard it. Hehe.
And we still can't figure out the actual lyrics to the line that sounds exactly like "whale ass slidin"... although there have been (much sexier) theories.

But SHE wrote the bridge guys! Or rather rewrote it? Not sure if whale ass slidin' was technically part of the bridge, but Diane said Dusty added all the naughty parts of the song to basically give Peter Stringfellow the middle finger.

Dusty: Hey babe, whassup? I've just written some lyrics that I think Peter's really gonna love. D'you get my email?

Diane: Reading it now... whale ass slidin'?

Dusty: Yeah... well... I hear it's an event in the Highland Games. You know, like the caber toss? It just came to me. What d'you think?

It should be a section at next year's Dusty Day! "Best whale ass slide", it could go on all evening!

Thanks to Pat on the Dustyese thread, I now know the line in Breakfast i Bed is 'I will lock the door'...   It's one of her best known songs and I'd never bothered to look up the lyrics...
 I thought it was 'I will adore' or something like that, I never worked it out because it doesn't really make sense. How is it 'I will lock the door'?! It doesn't sound anything like that!

Okay, personal revelation over.

there's several songs i can think of where Dusty phrasing is so unusual it's I've had to do a double-take/listen.

In "Who Could Be Loving You Other Than Me", the way she says "which moment" totally threw me off.

Not sure about a dance--- maybe a new Olympic sport category? Similar to synchronized swimming-- here's a guy working out a routine. 🍷🍷

Connie, you could be onto something there. 🤔 The winter Olympics could provide many whale ass slide categories. The skeleton or ice skating where they land on their butts for instance. 😂😂

🤔🤔 What is that kid doing?!

The athletes could replace the ice in all sports with whale asses. Whale ass bob sleighing, whale ass curling... And they would have to sing 'God save our Queen of Soul' or something along those lines. 😂

Hahaha, oh my 🍷

I don't think I've seen or made anything so strange out of context! 😊 When I was making my one, I was thinking how funny it would be if my mum walked in and said 'umm...why are you putting Dusty on a whale?...' or 'I don't get it, is it a joke?' (and I'd say something like 'no, it's a way of life') 🍷

Should this be a new thread? 🤔

I know I'm a little late jumping on the boat here (or maybe off the boat?), but I couldn't resist joining in, even if it's at the tail end of this thing...

Dusty demonstrates perfect form as judges look on. She knows she's got this.

Metallic sparkly uniforms can make all the difference:

Looking sharp in a matching uniform, Dusty experienced an upset after she lost the points she needed when she failed to control the whale. Apparently the whale's needs were stronger.

(./download

</file.php?id=15272&mode=view>)

Shortly after, she was forced into early retirement after a tragic dorsal fin accident. She did not "like it like that", after all and was told that her "body's whale ass slidin'" days were over.

\(/download/file.php?id=15273&mode=view\)

But after a lifetime contributing to the advancement of the sport, Dusty made her comeback, proving once and for all that she'll always be the greatest.

Jeez, all this fuss because my sonar's wonky. And besides, one's body also gets wet and slidin' during a whale ass slidin' competition.

"Silly!... silly! This started off as a good, clean misheard lyrics thread and now it's gone and gotten silly."
