

Let's Talk Dusty!

The Ultimate Forum for Dusty Springfield Fans
<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/>

One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation LA

<http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/forum/viewtopic.php?f=7&t=2192>

One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation LA Page 1 of 1

by dustylover

Posted: Fri Mar 04, 2011 1:47 pm

For anybody interested, I just found the Wildlife Waystation Los Angeles web site while communicating with the publisher of Singular City magazine. I had told her that Dusty spent time there while recovering from her addictions with her friend Lee Everitt (and I hope I got the spelling right).

At any rate, the place is going strong, and still fulfilling its mission. Visit their web site here:

<http://wildlifewaystation.org/home.htm>

No mention of Dusty, though.

Re: One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation L

by Corinna

Posted: Fri Mar 04, 2011 4:34 pm

Good you found the Wildlife Waystation, Larry!

LTD has sponsored Wildlife Waystation's black leopard Jade. You can see pictures of this beautiful animal here:

http://www.dustyspringfield.org.uk/ltd_ ... waystation

LTD also has a Guardian level membership, which means that LTD members have donated $500 in honour of Dusty, to keep the Wildlife Waystation running.

viewtopic.php?f=4&t=1309

Re: One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation L

by daydreamer

Posted: Fri Mar 04, 2011 5:13 pm

I should just mention that Lee Everitt had nothing to do with the WWS, it was probably Helene Sellary you were thinking of Larry.

Re: One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation L

by FairyDust

Posted: Fri Mar 04, 2011 10:08 pm

The Waystation looked beautiful - and so peaceful - on Definitely Dusty. I totally get why it was a bit of an oasis for Dusty in her Californian desert period! She must have been in her element with all those cats around 😊. Helene seems to have been a really lovely lady too 🌹

Re: One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation L

by dustylover

Posted: Sat Mar 05, 2011 1:22 am

daydreamer wrote:

I should just mention that Lee Everitt had nothing to do with the WWS, it was probably Helene Sellary you were thinking of Larry.

Daydreamer, You are right. My mistake.

Re: One of Dusty's favorite hangouts - Wildlife Waystation L

by dustylover

Posted: Sat Mar 12, 2011 12:32 pm

Let me know if you are planning on doing something like this in the near future.