I ran across this on alibris, a place that sells books new and used from a great number of booksellers. Most if not all of the books on Dusty do not have a review. You can write a review and be entered into their contest for free $100 vouchers. You get entered for each review your write.

Well, I thought it might be a fun way for some of us to educate others about Dusty, recommend books (or not), etc.....Spread a lil more Dusty love.

Here's the link if you're interested.

Winners are chosen at random--what, 5 a month?--but for each review you write, you get another chance at winning. It's like the raffle at Dusty Day except you write a review instead of buying a ticket.

And of course you can review ANY book, but I'm really wanting us to get Dusty covered! I actually wrote a very short review on amazon about the new Bible, basically saying, when are you going to get it! 🙏
