Moving this thread to the appropriate section. Cheers! Cor 😊

I did Angela, it was such a sad day, very surreal and I was desperately upset, I just couldn't believe I was there and that Dusty was gone. Were you there?

I was there too...one of the saddest days of my life. However, it was such a beautiful service - never has Dusty's music moved me so much as on that day. Henley and it's people did Dusty proud - so many people lined the streets to pay their respects, and for a while the whole town came to a standstill. The memory of 'Mixed up girl' playing as the hearse left the church will live with me forever. It's a strange thing to say, but the funeral was like Dusty's performances - perfect in every way.

How did ppl react in the streets ? Stoicism, or tears ???? I'd probably sob!

If you have a weak candidate and a weak platform, wrap yourself up in the American flag and talk about the Constitution.

This photo shows the crowd on that day. It was taken by a friend of mine who was standing behind me, though I didn't know it at the time. That's the back of my head on the front row, next to the guy in denim. It was taken after we came out of church by the side door and I couldn't take my eyes off the car. Brian was standing in the crowd over on the left of the picture and his sad face featured in news footage.

Thanks for posting the photo, Carole - astonishing to see so many people taking a moment out of their lives to pay their respects to a legend and icon.
