oh jonny..I think there is a LOT of interest..I think I speak for most when I say that there is nothing more exciting than seeing a Dusty photo that I have never seen before. 😊....and I don't think one ever gets tired of seeing the same pics over again, either. 😊

I think most of us has felt that their posts aren't being noticed, one time or another. Sometimes
I think there is so much happening, some things get overlooked...but believe me..your photos are well appreciated. thanks again and I do hope you post more when you have the time.

I've just spent a couple of hours looking through this wonderful thread. What a great set of images and great information too. Thanks to everyone for taking the time to post them (and collect them). I'm going to have to get hold of those fantastic Magnum shots in book form. She's so fine.

I don't have any rare photos to share but here's my favourite ever photo - very well known as it is. Dusty is very natural, relaxed but coiffed and poised too. There's more than one Dusty. Here she's a bit like the girl in Goffin/Kings's 'Don't Ever Change' except 'change' was Dusty's middle name...

Yes Nancy, photo taken after the RAH by a guy whose name I can't remember, but always wore a T Shirt with DUSTY - All I See Is You on the back. I think he sadly died some time back.

Well spotted Clare - it is Tamsin Carroll who played Dusty in Dusty the Original Pop Diva (Aussie Musical). A great performer who respectfully did justice to Dusty's memory. It does make me wonder though, with so many great photos of Dusty that they got it wrong! 🤔

Some of you may recall that at Dusty Day, I bought the 1964 beehive print at the Auction. I collected it from the framers earlier this afternoon and I thought you might like to see a photo of it; they have done a really good job although the photo here doesn't really do it justice.

And for the second time, when that print is in a public place, it has drawn a crowd. All the staff at the framers came over to look at it and to ask if it was Dusty, and one lady asked if I had met her, with another responding that I am too young!!! Anyway, there were many "oohs" and "aahs" when they saw the print, which is what happened when I took it in originally.

The photo here is taken with my iPhone so I'll try to get a better one later at home.

Hi Wendy -

Glad you like it - I'm thrilled with it :)

The print itself is 8"x10", so I wanted an oversized frame to draw attention to it. The frame is 18"x20", and about 4" deep, with a broad 8cm mount and narrower inner mount. I really wanted to hang it through here in the study but there just isn't a suitable space. It needs a space of its own and the study is like Kelvingrove Gallery - I frame and hang my favourite photos and paintings. Everything in here is original, including one of my Parisian paintings by an artist I like (his other painting is through in the bedroom). So after moving things around in here, I finally went and hung it in the bedroom, where there is a perfect space above a vase of sunflowers and a lamp which matches the colours of the frame and sets it off nicely :)

Something like the shadow of a butterfly
And lies beyond the gates of dark and light
And darling, it belongs to me

Thanks again, everyone. I just hope no-one is bored with the pics. I just love doing something with them and can't really resist once I see one. And I'm definitely with Josh - that era in Dusty's career is, in my opinion, her finest - she looked totally stunning, her voice was just perfection and I adore the choice and the style of the songs she sang then.

Fab Will. Enhance away. Paula will be calling you the mad enhancer soon. As I'm the mad sketcher.

We can't have too many enhancements right gang.

Here's a thought Will, if I do a drawing of one of your enhancements, you will then take the drawing and enhance it won't you. LOL

Then we'll have the enhancement of the drawing of the enhancement of the enhanced photo. Oh I'm going down The Nags Head.

I'm always thanking everyone for everything (that can't be wrong, right?), so thanks again for these pics! 😊 I haven't seen most of them before, so I'm extremely happy that there are so many nice people who post all these pictures here! Unfortunately I don't have any to share...
