I think it comes from Full Circle, but not sure, Bev could tell you I am sure.

It IS from Full Circle Kathy... very near the end of the programme when she's talking about going back to Nashville to record the album!

It's possible that this pic and others we've seen that are similar, were taken at Battersea Fun Fair.

I like this picture because, although there are a few taken on that day, I can't think another one that's full length, most are head shots or from the waist up. The reason it looks a little strange and fuzzy is that I took it through the window of Sotherby's when they held the auction.

As you can see from this pic, it's actually just a smallish picture and not, unfortunately, a big cut-out. I just took a close up photo and made it bigger.

Dusty's profile is as lovely as ever in that pic, but I agree about the eyelashes, they're very 'Clockwork Orange'.....(if you've seen the Movie, you'll know what I mean!).....circa '71 I would have thought that pic was taken.

Mark

Posted - 01/07/2007 : 15:12:27

Close Mark! The pic was printed in the Disc and Music Echo Sept. 19th 1970. The article was by Phil Symes and headed...DUSTY IS STILL ASKING ..HOW CAN I BE SURE. Your comments all appreciated, as far as I'm concerned the more mascara the better, she had such gorgeous eyes...but yes the camera has caught it different in that shot.

Casxx

Posted - 01/07/2007 : 15:13:25

Cheers ladies - I just quite enjoy fiddling around with images and seeing if I can do something nice with them. Some come out better than others, depending on the quality of the original image. Newspaper images are notoriously difficult cos the colours rarely look genuine - compare that Dusty shot to the one in another thread of Dame Anne Neagle, which was a studio shot and the result was FAR better. Anyway, glad you all like it.

Matt.

So you'd be the anti-Emily Howard then? ;-)

As for favorite photos, after seeing and hearing about this on Dustyville, I must put this one in the running:

Shoot, got the Red X, so here's the URL alone: <http://s6.photobucket.com/albums/y213/JMFabiano524/?action=view¤t=dsbsmall.jpg>

Could this be from the same photo shoot for the pics that became covers of some of the Japanese records, such as (?) this one.

Yes Nancy, I took the picture from a Japanese album I have and I also have another single cover in the same dress as the one you've posted. I don't think I ever saw that hairdo anywhere else except on the Japanese photo's.

Just caught up with this thread, great work, as always, on the 'eyelash' pic Will!, and love the Dusty in yellow pic Carole!.....whenever I see pics of Dusty with flowers I always think they compliment each other!

Yeah really, ever since I discovered it whenever I go online I have to go to the Dustyville home page or somewhere that has the picture at least once just to have a loving glimpse :-)

I don't know about anyone else, but I cannot see any of the photos posted by JMRPL. Any reasons why? ☹️
