Carole, thanks so much for the great photos and report. I recall you were hesitant about this venture in the beginning...I'm so glad you went forward. You're our star.

Thank you for helping Katy become the star she's becoming too. Helping spread Dusty's music to a new generation and around the world. Nothing could be better.

You look so esp beautiful in that picture with Siam/Diana!

Yeah, well done Carole for flying the flag for Dusty and for us. Thank you for persevering through the nervousness I'm sure you thought that in the end you were glad you did it. We were all so jealous of you being there. Well Done!

Katy has just been on Breakfast TV on BBC1, luckily I had a nudge from Simon, or I would have missed it. She came across really well sitting on the sofa with screens showing her performance behind her. She talked about the show, the acts and how she had been pushed by husband Andy into entering. She also talked about Dusty and the love she had for her and her music. Katy can be proud, not just of winning the competition, but for reminding everyone of the fact that Dusty is the best female singer this country ever produced. She said the contract with Vegas would begin within 3 months and that she would probably be appearing 6 times a week. She's already told us she doesn't want to go until after DD, so we wont cross her off the guest list just yet. Fingers crossed.....again!

I echo those sentiments, Carole - without you and the other Superfans, the result on Saturday might have been very different; and while Katy would still have been a great singer, she would not have been as similar to Dusty as she turned out to be with your help.. So glad that you decided to do the show :)

THANK YOU, CAROLE, SIMON AND JANIE

And I missed Katy on BBC Breakfast :(

I couldn't resist posting this snippet from Simon Bell's website, where he notes that -

..The show is hosted by Graham Norton. Production values are high, with live orchestra & wonderful dancers, who work very hard & get little credit. Interestingly the rythm section of the orchestra is for the most part Maeline Bell's band!!..

I'm sure that will bring a smile to many faces :) And can't help thinking how appropriate this is..

Yes, Simon knew a lot of the guys in the band and what is also worth noting is that Madeline herself thought that Katy was great and called from Malaga airport to ask him to wish Katy luck.

I'm off on two weeks holiday now (only from work, not going anywhere) so I'm sitting reliving Saturday on YouTube before going out into town with my camera. I find I keep going back to All I See Is You and now, belatedly, I understand why Carole, Cas and no doubt many others, too, consider this one of their favourite Dusty songs - it's just amazing, SUCH a torch-song and so moving. And speaking of YouTube, I note with glee that the Final version of You Don't Have To Say You Love Me has already been viewed 115 times and I only posted it 20 hours ago :)

God, she amazes me. Thankyou so much for uploading those videos Will. It means a lot to us overseas who arent able to watch it on tv to be able to feel the same emotion that you did. Thank you so much 😊

I really hope Katy comes to Dusty Day, it would be a dream to be able to personally tell her how wonderful she is.

Thanks for the photos Carole, you are so lucky to be a Superfan!

May Dusty live on forever and ever. We love you 😊

I just checked iTunes and I notice that

"Going Back - The Very Best Of Dusty Springfield (1962-1994)" is currently at number 61 in the album chart :)

On Amazon UK,

"Dusty Springfield Hits Collection" is at number 40 in their album chart and

"Dusty: The Very Best Of Dusty Springfield" is currently at number 66 :)

It's beginning, folks - people are once more buying the one and only DUSTY :)

Woohoo!

Apparently the BBC press office had a call from Universal wanting to know what had happened to explain the surge of interest in Dusty CD's! Wake up Universal! Katy says that she will be at Dusty Day and isn't expected to go to Vegas until May, so that's great news! Right now in Amazon's Female Contemporary chart, Dusty is at 1 and 2 and has two more in the top twenty!

Carrie and David have just been talking on Loose Women about a new childrens show they're doing but of course talked about The One and Only as well. They said how fantastic Katy is and that she could even hold her own with real acts like Diana Ross and Lionel Ritchie. The real Dusty came in for some praise too.

I've just emailed this to the BBC ..

Can you tell me if there are any plans for Katy Setterfield, winner of the show, to release a single (and if so, PLEASE let it be All I See Is You). Many thanks.

You can email the BBC and send feedback here - and maybe if enough of us contact them ...

I agree Will, although we always have the original to listen to. Thank you so much for putting up those clips on UTube, they were wonderful to watch and I left you comments (one of which you responded to!). I watched them several times over and was just blown away with Katy's version of AISIY--one of my favourite Dusty songs. 😊

Yes, thankfully we do - and what an incomparable version that is. There is nothing quite like it.

I am thinking, of course, that if Katy's version went to the top of the charts, it means A LOT of airplay - and that is the sort of thing that tends to resurrect careers from past times ;) Look what is happening already and then imagine if a Dusty song was Number 1 ..

As much as I love Katy for what she did, I would want it to be Dusty's version at the top of the charts. Doubt it will happen though, singles are a dead market these days. Six weeks airplay, release, top of charts or not, as the case may be and then gone. Universal should have got things together with a short TV campaign to accompany the final, picked say The Very Best Of and then watched it race up the charts. Another missed opportunity.

Yes, it makes you wonder about Universal--how could they have missed this marketing opportunity so badly. They could have used it to boost sales of the recent DVD release too.

Forgot to mention too that Johnny Walker on Wogan's show this morning, congratulated Katy on her win, saying she hadn't thought she'd make it through the first show but now she'd now be off to Vegas to sing songs like this..... and played YDHTSYLM.

Heavens! It's another full-time job just to keep up with this thread. LOL. Great reading and fantastic to see Dusty topping the sales charts.

Perhaps there could be a petition to some of the BBC radio stations to play more Dusty? I don't know how these things work.

I'm psyched that Katy will be at DD--I had a feeling that might work out. And if she's not in Vegas till May, maybe I can organize a trip there, too. Would be so much fun to meet up with some of the gang there.

You get the idea lol.

Just came back from the hairdressers.. had Dusty singing AISIY playing loudly in the car and got a smile from an elderly lady in the street who clearly recognised the singer and the song :)

Can't believe I missed Katy on Breakfast Time this morning (but I don't usually watch anyway!), or Loose Women at lunch time which I LOVE...and I have been home all day! Was wondering if she might be on Richard and Judy some time soon after Graham's appearance on Friday.

I went on to Katy's own website earlier and tried to listen to one of her own songs - We Are One. I had the same old problem of not being able to download (again with living out in the sticks, which you all know about!) but the first couple of lines I did manage to hear I could not believe how like Dusty she sounded there too. Not sure when she made this recording but it was obviously before The One and Only. Don't know what the rest of the song is like but I certainly liked what I heard at the beginning. Has anyone listened to any of Katy's own stuff yet? I had also been wondering too whether this TV prog, and now since Katy won, could it lead to any of Dusty's singles being re-released, and I agree with Carole I would prefer to hear the original Dusty version of All I See Is You hitting our stores again. But, for sure there will be a Katy CD release soon I would think, and she is going to get even more recognition then. She has a big future ahead of her now and very well deserved. Great to hear also that it looks like she is still planning to do Dusty Day - the only thing is I don't think 1 DAY is going to be enough!

One thing I meant to mention when I came on here the other day was when I saw the other acts watching Katy, I particularly noticed "Cher" and "Madonna" smiling and nodding in approval as if to say, "you've got it, you're going to win" as Katy was performing. It was also lovely to see when Dusty was announced the winner, Cher rushing up and sweeping Dusty off her feet into her arms and twirling her around. Thought it was a lovely touch seeing as she was the next closest female singer to get to the final.

What fun that video was! Your kids are really on the side of the angels, aren't they!

It inspired me to go back and watch Viva Las Vegas again. Katy is great on her breakout solo bits. Kinda reminded me of Dusty with The Springfields.

Maira and others, I agree, it would be terrific if Dusty's AISIY were released as a single. YSHTSYLM could be the B side for a change. 🎵

Tom,

I saw it. Katy was really good, though she clearly still has a cold - good job it didn't show on Saturday evening! She was very complimentary about Dusty too - "the best British female singer that we've ever had".

Katy has just been on Breakfast TV on BBC1, luckily I had a nudge from Simon, or I would have missed it. competition, but for reminding everyone of the fact that Dusty is the best female singer this country ever produced. She said the contract with Vegas would begin within 3 months and that she would probably be appearing 6 times a week. She's already told us she doesn't want to go until after DD, so we wont cross her off the guest list just yet. Fingers crossed.....again!

Something else I've meant to say is that both the other Superfans, Jane and Simon have asked me to say thankyou to all on here for the wonderful support of Katy. Done 🙏

I've been reading Simon's site over the last two days and there is a wealth of information there. He clearly thought the world of her. I've put a link to his site on mine.

Oh my god..was this a novel or what 🙏 Absolutely fabulous that Katy won..I must say that I had a good feeling that she would. You guys (Will, Neil, Nancy, Marty) were so funny with all your commentary..thanks so much for it..it was like being there. ..and yahoo for Katy!!! 🙏🙏

Carole..great pics once again...did ya really shake up that bottle of bubbly 🙏

& hilarious video from your family...you can't ever say that you haven't influenced them....a good thing to pass along 🙏

AISIY was beautifully done..she deserved to win. ..hmm,, I might be interested in a field trip to Las Vegas 🙏

Oh and thanks for all who voted..you know who you are 🙏 IF Dusty were still here with us..I wonder what her reaction/feelings would be? ..I bet she would say ."Good job, KATy" 🙏

I hope she would be delighted that someone was paying tribute to her and doing such a fine job of it :)

Carole, that video is so sweet and so funny! Me and Mum just watched it then and we were cracking up. Its so good to see your daughters get right into it as well!! I really hope they make an Australian version of it.

God, i still can't believe how awesome Katy is. She rocks our socks big time 😊

Dusty would be so proud, how could you not be?!

I've (finally) uploaded the video of Middle Of Nowhere from the grand final- sorry to have taken so long!

You can see it at -

As before, those not in the UK should have no problems watching it.

At the risk of cross posting, Katy's performance as Dusty on BBC1 has brought a new member to our forum - you can read all about Frederika in the Welcome Home section.

Just as we hoped, Katy is turning people only to Dusty's music.
