I was driving home from school tonight, and as I pulled up in the driveway with "What Have I Done To Deserve This" nearing the end, I was suddenly struck by how wonderful Dusty sounded with the PSB, and then as quickly as that I began to feel sad that it is almost Christmas--a time of such joy, yet Dusty is no longer with us on this earth.

I thought, I won't have to explain this on LTD; people will understand. So, I'll just ask you to light a candle for the lady and think of her, who's given us all so much.

Bless Dusty.

How sad do you get sometimes???

I'll be like thinking about her and then I'll remember OMG she isnt here anymore...I'll never know if she likes christmas pudding etc. etc. OMG and its like

Love,

Mads xxx

There's a thing Simon Bell once said, that Dusty gave so much joy to people, yet nobody made her that happy in return.

That's so sad... Wish she could be here, and experience just how loved and appreciated she is.

Much love to dear Dusty. 😊

I too think of Dusty more deeply as Christmas approaches, I will be lighting a candle for Dusty and four other people who are no longer with us after Mass on Christmas day.

I have read that Dusty's last Christmas in '98 was as blissful as could be expected, just Dusty with Simon cooking the Christmas dinner and looking after her at Littlehill

I lit my candle for Dusty today while playing one of her records. It made me sad but i was happy at the same time.

Merry Christmas Dusty 😊
