Dusty rarities (#p85683)

by Richard » Fri Jan 20, 2012 9:34 pm

Could I appeal to everyone out there to add all the rare Dusty tracks (demos, unreleased tracks, recorded live, radio, TV or otherwise) to this thread, tracks that you think others may not have heard. Over the last year or so I've discovered several great tracks I hadn't heard before. Tracks such as;

Midnight sounds

Deep purple

Love the one you're with....and several others.

I'm hoping I can find another Dusty gem that is new to me. 🙏

Thanks, Richard. x

Dusty doing her soulful strut with Michael Jackson's "I Wanna Be Where You Are" on It's Lulu, Not To Mention Dudley Moore, 29 July 1972 - oh how I hope and pray the video footage is eventually found someday!

Thanks Kyles. I knew Dusty had performed this one, but never heard it before. Great track! I wasn't expecting to hear a new track this soon. Hopefully there's more to come! 😊

Thanks Terri, I've managed to acquire Deep Purple recently. It's a good sound quality recording considering. I've heard this track performed by several people (Donny and Marie is the one I'm most familiar with), but Dusty's version is now my fave!

My ambition is to acquire every track Dusty ever performed, be it live or in the studio. I've got loads already, but I'm still a long way short I think! 😊 Rich.x

This is a great tune from This is Tom Jones, 23 Jan 1971. Rain (which is the title of the song, no matter what DustyGotSoul suggests) has previously been recorded by Dorothy Morrison (lead vocalist on the Edwin Hawkins Singers record "O Happy Day") in 1970, says the bible.

Fabulous Corrina! Do you know if the full title is 'I wish it would rain'. Or is it simply 'Rain'. I did hear this on youtube ages ago. Thanks for reminding me of this great track! It is indeed a real rarity! 🙏 There is so much undiscovered Dusty stuff out there. I'm sure someone is going to post something on here one day, that will astound us all! Rich.

Thanks Corrina. Some clever techno person on youtube edited all the vocal bits of 6 million dollar man into a nearly 3 minute track. (I wish I knew how to do youtube links so I could post it here!) I'm sure Dusty must have recorded a complete version of this track. Hopefully more will surface one day. It's a really catchy track! 😊 Rich.

Does anyone know anything about 'The morning after the night before'. Could this be Dusty's rarest track?

In my 1st edition of Paul Howes book, they were still searching for it. Did the 2nd edition of his book have anything more to add? Did the 2nd edition also mention any other rarities that didn't make the 1st edition. Thanks, Rich.x

Unfortunately, no new info in the 2nd edition about this track. A mystery that's yet to be solved!

You're quite welcome, Richard!

Here's another one that might be new to you:

"Everybody Gets To Go To The Moon" live vocal performance from The Engelbert Humperdinck Show, 5 July 1970 🤗

That's another great live rarity Kyles!
Other great live tracks I've discovered are;
Something about you
Sweet soul music
You're no good
Can't you hear my heartbeat

I'm still waiting to hear Dusty sing Angel of the morning and I say a little prayer. Can anyone help ?

Thanks, Richard.x

I also adore that "Moon" performance from Engelbert!

I LOVE what she did with "Sweet Soul Music" - fingers crossed some video footage of It Must Be Dusty is uncovered someday...

"Angel Of The Morning" and "I Say A Little Prayer" feature on the brand new boxed set Goin' Back: The Definitive Dusty Springfield and also on the Decidedly Dusty 2CD set (details listed in the A Song For You section of this forum). Video footage of Decidedly Dusty has yet to be recovered so at this point these performances exist only in audio.

Cor kindly posted a clip of 'Angel' some time ago here:

Just heard The Olive tree (gorgeous!!!) and Scarborough fair on youtube recorded live in the 60s. There are loads more I'd love to hear that didn't make it onto my Good Times cd, such as Shake, SOS, Always something there to remind me and There will never be another you. Hopefully more of these live tracks will turn up on youtube soon. 😊 Rich.

If you go to YouTube and type in the full thing, song title and Dusty Springfield, they will all come up, usually at the top. Almost everything that is available (from fans) was also put onto CD by Fraser O'Brien and copies have been sold (and possibly still are) through LTD.

It is a while since I have used it, but this site enabled me to convert all my You Tube videos into MP3 files:

<http://www.vidtomp3.com/> (<http://www.vidtomp3.com/>)

Once you have downloaded the free software, it is really easy to use.

I've also used RealPlayer's video download and format conversion feature, although the quality won't be as good as the original source using any of these audio extraction methods. Still better than naught, though!

Copy the URL of the video you want and go here:

<http://www.convertfiles.com/> (<http://www.convertfiles.com/>)

You can convert the video to MP3 - sound only.

This is my first day so my love goes to you and i hope to correspond and make friends with Dusty fans all around the world.

I too would love to purchase any DVDS and CDS of Dusty Springfield rarities.

If anyone can let me know, Dusty to me is flower power, her music always gives me something every year, and has done since the mid 1990s, she was my singer, then in my 20s, in the same way that people followed Blur or

Oasis.

Love Robert xx

Sadly, Nancy, quite a few of Dusty's YouTube vids have been deleted recently. Why or by whom ?? If they go back on they will go off quite quickly. I must confess copyright issues baffle me.

I was thinking maybe someone was making a new DVD. Ever hopeful!

Funny! I was just watching My Best Friend's Wedding and I love when they start singing this song in the restaurant. It led me to compare Aretha's and Dionne's versions. Aretha's maybe a little bit more upbeat.....Never heard Dusty's before . Love it! Love her! Thanks for posting!

It's interesting that the arrangement Dusty uses is much closer to Aretha's version than Dionne's.

From DUSTY series 1 show 5, one of the lost episodes.

A clip of "(You Got) The Power of Love" from this same lost episode also exists.

I heard somewhere that a clip of "You Don't Have to Say You Love Me" from the same episode also exists, though I have yet to see that video footage.
