can't help with that topic Carole, but Tamsin is a lovely lady who loves Dusty and holds a great respect for Dusty as a singer and great icon. I just hope someone asked her back for next year 😊😁

I did 😊 She basically said that they hadn't given up on it and that one of the main problems had always been a suitable West End theatre becoming available. She wants to stay in this country, and is working on it, as she says that so many theatres in Australia have closed and the opportunities here are greater.

Carole, next time you speak to Tamsin 😊, ask her to arrange so that the run includes Dusty Week next year. 🍀

We should have a few parties next year, too, so everyone can talk and get to know each other outside of the actual day.

Thanks for posting this Rob, gosh, when Tamsin first runs out, in the long shots and at the end it is amazingly like Dusty! It captures in an amazing way the RAH performance. Of course I was gobsmacked at Tamsin's performance in Dusty the Original Pop Diva when I went to see it, but I wasn't sufficiently knowledgeable about Dusty's performances to know what amazing attention to detail was being made at the time. Looking back now, I can see just how accurate this was. I'd love to see this show again now that I know more about Dusty--I don't think I'd be disappointed☺

Although I am coming late to the party, as it were, I now realise this - a very talented young lady and she has clearly done her homework. And she is lovely, too.

She is already working in the UK Laura, at Drury Lane as the "alternate Nancy" in Oliver. Jodie Prenger won the right to perform through the TV programme but I believe that Tamsin was the first choice of Cameron Mackintosh after she appeared in his Australian production. She appears on Wednesday and Thursday I think, and probably any other time when Jodie is off.

Tamsin worked very hard to get the movements and gestures correct. This can be seen in the ABC 8 part TV documentary that was made during the startup and rehearsal period of the musical. Perhaps one day I'll offer it as a DVD for donation! But I have another DVD on the go at the moment! 😊😊 Speaking of which I would appreciate comments from Jen, Cas, Cor, Paula, and Stephen about the Dusty's European performances DVD. Many thanks 😊

I was told the show Tamsin was in about Dusty, the producers, the main man wants to rewrite the book. I don't know why, because when I saw it, it was great. Tamsin is the only one who comes close to sounding like Dusty in my opinion. She really has it down.

She was certainly very good, Teda, and when I photographed her, I was struck at the 'Dustyness' of her expression - there was something about her eyes which was so reminiscent of Dusty.

When I got the DVD of the show I couldn't believe what I saw. It was not forced it came out so easy. I'm glad she came to DD. That is a real person. I bet she is very good as Nancy in Oliver. That is a great part to do. The producers of the Dusty show love Tamsin. Everytime I ask whats going on about the show that is the only answer I get about it rewrite. I'll ask again. Teda

I just remembered that I mentioned to Tamsin that I had seen the show Little by Little that covered the making of the Australian stage show and that I'd been struck by her facial resemblance to Dusty, especially when she was being herself, rather than in the drag. She looked at the screen that was showing a 60's Dusty and said that it was her mum who looked just like Dusty, especially in the 60's. To be honest, I can't say I noticed if Tamsin sounded like Dusty on DD, probably not because that's so tough to do, I just thought she sang the songs well. Some people think it doesn't matter, but whenever Dusty is portrayed, be it on film or stage, I do think the illusion of looking like Dusty matters, I'd be totally blown away and astounded if they could manage the voice too. For a film I would always want the real Dusty voice, no point to it otherwise.

I thought she was good too, and talking to her briefly she seems like a very nice lady.

She plays Nancy at the matinees and I think 1 evening performance.
We went to see Oliver and it was Jodie Prenger, but Tamsin is included in the programme and on her CV it mentions her role as Dusty.

Trek.
often called Carole.
