i just found this on YouTube 😊

i hadn't seen it before; or heard of it, actually!

here's a note from the person who added the video:

"A panel review of Five Star's 'With Every Heartbeat', with Phil Collins and Dusty Springfield (R.I.P). Dusty said they're slick and it makes her fiercely proud that they are British. 1989. Dusty passed ten years later."

Thanks for the link Sophie!....I was a fan of 'Five Star' around their 'Rain or shine' period, sadly it all started going downhill for them (here in Britain) about two years later, the family then upped-sticks and moved to America where they've remained ever since.
