You Tube cd project (#p123241)

by mikeh69 » Wed Jun 05, 2013 3:23 am

You know there is like over 100 or 200 maybe more You Tube videos. I'm talking Dusty lol.

Now the thing is there is alot of songs that are on her records or not that she does live or lip sync sometime

BUT....especially after say 1968 and on there's alot of quality videos/songs that never made it to a album and there are tons of them. I wish a project could be made of collecting all these videos and extracting the audio out of them and make 80 minute cd's from the soundtrack of the videos. There must be enough for 2 or 3 maybe more.

It was just driving me crazy. I'm like where did this video come from. I never heard this song anywhere. That kind of thing.... 🤔

That's a good idea. Might I suggest:-

1. Finding them
2. Compling a YouTube Playlist
3. Publicising the Playlist with it's aims stated in the Description

If it becomes a popular playlist on YouTube there is a strong chance of the record companies noticing and maybe actually releasing an album based upon it.

Best of luck. 😊😄

Well maybe I am wrong about this but my feeling is that Frans you have a huge knowledge of the videos that are available on YouTube.

I think Frans you have these pretty well catalogued. Am I wrong? 🤔

That means that step 1 and part of 2, in Viper's list, is already there. Does someone have the will to take this forward.

Viper, this is a bit like the ATV clips you have posted. I have only listened to a couple of them so far, but they are brilliant! Thank you for posting these. 🙌🙌 They help us to form a fuller picture of Dusty's work.

Highly Recommended. 🍷 Many Dusty Songs On the CD's From A Song For You are not available on Youtube, or any official Dusty Albums. 😊

Flatterer. 🙄

I consider myself still a late comer to the fold and know full well that many of you have a far more extensive knowledge of than I. Particularly Frans. 🙏

However, if you'd like me to compile the YouTube playlist I'm willing, but there's a condition. All you LTD folk will have to decide what's to go on it, and maybe help me locate the songs (or versions of songs). You'll also need to decide just how many tracks should go on it.

As will likely be the case there will be many more songs that should be included that won't make the playlist if we restrict it to an album collection style list (eg. 25, 30, 40, or 50 tracks), but that doesn't mean we can't do several playlists (or volumes) if need be.

We'll also need a playlist title that reflects the aim of the project, and if you all really want to pull the stops out on this one some 'sleeve notes' explaining what's special, uncommon, or rare about each track included.

One thing to note: YouTube videos have a habit of appearing and disappearing usually due to the uploaders copyright infringement. It'll be LTD folken's responsibility to regularly keep a check on the playlist(s) compiled so that if something gets pulled we can replace the track in the list promptly. This will work in our favour for the more views the playlist gets the more likely record companies will consider it.

Do we have a deal LTD folken ?

Easy Don, it's one thing to try put this together as a YouTube thing, it's something else again to try getting it onto an audio cd.

One I can do, the other is not impossible but significantly more difficult. Lets concentrate on getting the playlist(s) sorted out before venturing further.

I've a couple of things requiring my attention presently an' I'm away to see Public Image Ltd tomorrow at Finsbury Park but I'll have a first stab at Frans list next week. Likely this will take some time to put together so be patient.

Impressive list Frans. I know that one with Alf Garnet is about because I've seen it, think I even have it saved in my channel lists, but I expect I'll be learning some new things as I go.

Lets hear from some others before I start. 😊 😄

Ease down folken. I never said I could arrange to get a c.d. out.

Playlist yes.

Getting it onto a cd will require a lot of wizardry. I can cast my voodoo charms, consult my contacts, and weave the fabrics of possibility but there really is no certainty that a cd will be the result of this project.

So, please, lets just concentrate on getting a playlist done and promoting the hell out of it. To get a record company to take any notice at all will require a couple of million plays/views.

I'm still catching up from a weekend away

There is actually a way and I can do this I have a Phillips CD audio burner that's connected to my computer I can take every video clip and transfer the audio from the video with no quality loss and boost the sound as well. If I had links to all the videos it would be easier to go from video to video and and with real player you can record the video right off your computer and store on a hard drive. Just need a compiled you tube video link list and all is well.

Yes, it can be done that way, but the name for that is bootlegging. Very naughty. 🙄

What we're aiming for is an official release isn't it ?

I just got through searching through Frans list. I'm afraid I haven't done very well. Here's what I've got so far - http://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PL ... SJ0xugDCO8 (http://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLQuAW_Ov_RIGxhcoJT5TtcvSJ0xugDCO8), and yes I strayed a little.

I get the feeling I might have been searching for hen's teeth with some of them.

Please feel free to vote to kick or keep any of the tracks, and if they're out there, help me find the rest of the tracks on the list or alternatives please.

Sorry it's taken me this long to get this far but I got distracted seeing Miles Kane, Johnny Marr, Public Image Ltd, The Stone Roses, the film prem's of 'Made In Stone' and 'Spike Island' with the cast and the mayor of Widnes, filming Seven Days Of Night gig, and seeing Blondie, on top of life, writing the reviews, sorting the pictures, uploading to YouTube, updating the site. You know how it goes. It's always everything or nothing.

According to The Complete Dusty Springfield Book, Dusty never recorded the song for an album, but performed it just once on TV on October 2 1965 in the UK on BBC1's The Billy Cotton Band Show.

Unfortunately it doesn't appear to be on youtube at the moment. 🤔 Maybe some kind soul can upload it for you, 😊 not me, Sorry I haven't got a clue how too. 🙄
